IN MEMORIAM.

EAVES—First Anniversary—In affectionate and ever-loving memory of our own darling "Mona," who was accidentally drowned 20th March, 1920, aged 2 years and 10 months.

To-day recalls the memory
Of our loved one gone to rest,
And those that think of her to-day
Are those who loved her best.
We do not know what pain she bore,
We did not see her die,
We only know she passed away
Without a last good-bye.
She bade no one a last farewell,
She raised her head to none,
Her spirit flew before we knew
That she from us had gone.

Inserted by her loving mother, grandmother, and Auntie Eva.

HAMILTON—In loving remembrance of Harrison (Harry) Hamilton, who died at Ballymena, Co. Antrim, March 19th, 1919. Deeply mourned.

JOHNSON—Fourth Anniversary—March 19, 1917—In loving memory of Etty.

And with the morn that angel-face will smile
Which we have loved long since and lost awhile.

JONES—Second Anniversary—In loving memory of my dear husband, William E. Jones, who died March, 1919. Sadly missed by his loving wife and children.

MILLER—In unfading memory of our youngest darling child, Ettie, called to her Father's Home 19th March, 1904.

Some day, some time, our eyes shall see
The dear face we hold in memory;
And God shall link the golden chain
Still closer when we meet again.

Never forgotten by her loving mother, brothers, and sisters.

SAMPSON—March 20, 1920, at Moynoe House, Scariff, Co. Clare, Constance Jane, dearly-loved wife of F. C. Sampson, Esq. R.I.P.

A Sound Investment

That gives an immediate, consistent and continuous return while still retaining its capital value. The will last a lifetime. It is Hygienic because the ventilation is perfect. It is ideally comfortable because the Vi-Spring System ensures uniformity over its entire surface—it can't sag anywhere. If a greater weight is applied to any point it meets with an increasing support. Consequently, one experiences the feeling of floating over a delightfully resilient surface which cannot impede the circulation of the blood by undue pressure on any of the muscles.

To those who appreciate the importance to health of sound, refreshing sleep we suggest an early investigation of the Vi-Spring Mattress at our Showrooms, or writing for full particulars, which will be sent post free on request.

NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,

LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.

A Temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by

A SOUTH AFRICAN FARM-LIFE FACT.

Competition, taxation, and unemployment (separately or together) afflict each class. In different ways they fetter all.

The Union of South Africa has no general solution for this problem of the nations; it does not offer a palliative for the multitude. It, too, has its unemployed and its economic difficulties.

But the Union of South Africa does offer a way out to the man with a capital of not less than £2,000. It offers to him, not indeed a royal road to fortune, but a life of peaceful industry and comfort if he has a taste for farming and will acquire and develop land.

The South African farmer has his perplexities. But he is not oppressed by taxation; he has no fear of unemployment; and even if he has to face competition he has not simultaneously to struggle with high cost of living and the housing problem.

From his orchard, garden, poultry-run, smoke-house, and fields the South African farmer can furnish a better table than that which costs the townsman hundreds a year. From his profits the farmer can gradually evolve a home and estate of his own.

The proposition merits attention.

TRANSPORT WORKERS AND WAGES REDUCTIONS.

The Transport Workers, Carters, and Motormen, at a conference in London yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution to the effect that no union inside the National Transport Workers' Federation should accept any reduction in wages. Instructions will be issued to districts against entering into any local negotiations with the object of effecting reductions, or alteration of working conditions to produce reductions.

The Press Association learns that the Transport Federation has convened a special two-days' National Conference in London for April of all its thirty-four affiliated unions, to consider any applications for wage reductions affecting transport workers of all grades and sections, other than railways.

Prices and Wages.

According to the official figures published in the Labour Gazette the cost of living fell further by ten points during the month of February. On February 1st the average level of retail prices for food, rent, clothing, fuel, light, and miscellaneous commodities was 151 per cent. above their level of July, 1914. By March 1st it had fallen to 141 per cent.—a figure which represents a total drop of thirty-five points, or about 2s. 6d. in the £, since last November. Irish householders, and more particularly their wives, will be somewhat sceptical of this good news. The London Press announces that the fall in prices is being reflected immediately in the restaurants and tea-shops of that city. Eggs, and all forms of food in the preparation of which they are used, are cheaper already, and the reduction is especially noticeable in the price of every kind of cake. Will Dublin follow suit? In Manchester on Thursday Irish eggs were being sold at twopence apiece, and firkin butter with the Irish label was marked at 2s. 6d. per pound. In view of home prices these figures are significant. Again, take the case of clothes. We are assured by the Labour Gazette that "clothing prices continue to decline," but a visit to a Dublin tailor tells a different story. In England "profiteering" committees have done very useful work. In Ireland, for a variety of reasons, they have been an utter failure. The Irish householder, therefore, who finds that the Labour Gazette's figures are largely illusory must blame not the Board of Trade, but himself. There is no good reason why prices in England should be lower than prices in Ireland. That, in many important respects, they are lower is, unfortunately, beyond a doubt.

In a large number of industries the wages of workers have become dependent on the Board of Trade's returns. Sliding scales have been fixed by agreement between employers and employed, and wages rise and fall in sympathy with prices. The system, judged by economic standards, is vicious; but there it is, and the workers who insisted upon increases in wages when the cost of living was rising must submit to substantial reductions now that it is on the decline. The first to come under this rule are the railwaymen. All in the "conciliation grades," except drivers, firemen, and juniors, got an advance of 8s. per week in January under the sliding-scale. The rate of increase or decrease was fixed at 1s. per week for every five points' rise or fall in the cost of living. Since January there has been a fall of twenty-four points; therefore, the railwaymen will forfeit 4s. per week, having just missed, by one point, a loss of 5s. Negotiations are in progress in London between employers and workers in several other branches of industry. The mine-owners and the colliers have not succeeded yet in reaching an agreement, but when the conference was adjourned yesterday the prospects of an early settlement were very good. The builders have appealed to the Triple Alliance against any attempt to tamper with their wages. The Triple Alliance has referred them to the Trades Union Congress, and the Parliamentary Committee of the latter body has informed them that they must fight their own battles and seek redress for their grievances in the Industrial Courts Act. Whether they will take the hint or not we do not know; but the action of the Trades Union Congress is a welcome symptom of returning sanity in the Labour world, and should have a wholesome effect on the negotiations which are in progress in half a dozen other trades, including the mercantile marine.

Whatever happens to the cost of living, wages must come down. Industry in the United Kingdom at present is being conducted on a hopelessly uneconomic basis. Prices, instead of being governed by the law of supply and demand, have been fixed at an arbitrary minimum by Labour, with the inevitable result that the bottom has been knocked out of British trade. Production costs are so absurdly high that consumption has been reduced almost to vanishing point. Who will buy anything nowadays if he can possibly do without it? Take the case of coal. Last year exports to foreign countries were so lucrative that the industry seemed to be rolling in wealth. Now it is sunk in depression, because British coal has become so dear that customers abroad are both unable and unwilling to buy it. Whatever theorists may say to the contrary, the price of labour ultimately determines the cost of production, and, so long as an employer is compelled to pay his workers an uneconomic wage, he cannot possibly produce goods at an economic cost. While this condition of affairs prevails demand will continue to languish and unemployment will grow from day to day. By sacrificing a few shillings in the week workers can give British industry a new lease of life. The present reduction in railwaymen's wages will effect a saving of seven millions a year, and if similar reductions were accepted by other trades, enormous benefits would accrue to the nation. Sooner or later the problem must be faced with courage. British Labour at present is living in a land of make-believe, and refuses to recognise facts which are staring it in the face. Britain's best markets throughout the world are being captured one by one by America. Even Germany is competing with success against British firms. Once lost, a market is not easily recovered, and one of these days the workers of these islands will find that they have thrown away their means of livelihood. They must choose now, not as they seem to imagine, between present wages and lower wages, but between lower wages and no wages at all.

Help for Austria.

The Allies have made a swift and generous response to Austria's appeal for help. Britain, France, Italy, and Japan have promised to use their good offices at the forthcoming Porto Rosa Conference "to bring about an improvement in the economic conditions which at present adversely affect the countries of Central and South-Eastern Europe." This, it may be assumed, means that they will strive to make Austria's neighbours see the folly of their ways and to induce them to remove the barriers that they have erected against their former enemy's trade. The Allies also promise to take such steps as are in their power "to assure to Austria a continued and increased supply of coal." Finally, they have decided to release for a period of years, as yet undetermined, their liens under the Treaty of St. Germain on the whole of Austria's assets which are pledged as security for reparations, the cost of military occupation, and relief credits granted to save the population from famine. The effect of this concession will be two-fold. In the first place, the suspension of payments will facilitate the work of reconstituting the great Austro-Hungarian Bank, now in liquidation. In the second place, the release of the pledged assets will provide Austria with the means—her Customs revenues and her tobacco monopoly, with others—to raise collateral security for gold bonds to be issued under the Ter Meulen credit scheme which the League of Nations has launched. In effect, the plan means that, so far as Britain is concerned, the Government will guarantee credits to Austria up to 85 per cent. of the gold value of the assets that she is free to pledge, provided that these credits are used to buy goods of British manufacture. The scheme is an admirable one, but it would be idle to pretend that its operation will make Austria's path absolutely smooth. The most that can be expected is that it will remove some of the greatest obstructions. The unhappy country's recovery depends more upon her ability to manufacture and sell goods than upon the granting of credits to purchase them. Therefore, we attach more importance to the Porto Rosa Conference than to the interesting experiment with the Ter Meulen scheme. Austria and what are known as the Succession States belong to one economic system, and of that system Austria is the keystone. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that the other States—her natural customers—shall be forced to abandon the industrial and economic boycott that they have instituted. If this is not done, Austria will be driven into the arms of Germany and the Allies will be presented with a new and formidable set of problems. The adoption of the Ter Meulen scheme, however, is a step in the right direction. It shows that the Allies are generous victors and that they are really anxious to succour their former enemy. Before they can grant further concessions Austria must give proof of her genuine desire to put her house in order. She must try to consolidate her Budget and to curtail the use of the printing press. In a word, her people must be prepared to shoulder a tremendous burden of taxation and to make national economy a fine art.

The Cigar Trade.

The present state of the cigar trade has a powerful moral for the Chancellor of the Exchequer and a painful interest for every pipe-smoker. The ad valorem duty of 50 per cent. which the last Budget put on imported cigars has proved to be a boomerang in every respect. It has reduced the yield from taxation by more than one-half, has hurt the retailer, and has penalised the Havana cigar without helping the British manufacturer. The abolition of the duty was demanded on Thursday by a conference which represented 275,000 retail tobacconists. Mr. Chamberlain has reaped only £313,000 from the new duty and has lost income tax on the profit—estimated at £500,000—of which it has deprived the retailers. Forty million cigars, representing locked-up capital, are lying in bond. Others, to the value of £2,000,000, are maturing—or rusting—on the merchants' shelves. British cigar-makers are out of work as a result of the "slump" in cigar-smoking. It was stated on Thursday that men do not smoke cigars nowadays through dislike of being called "profiteers." We have here an excellent example of the bad and far-reaching effects of uneconomic taxation, and an example, too, of the economic interdependence of luxuries and necessaries. The working man who, sucking his clay pipe, thinks that his withers are unwrung by the big duty on cigars, is a short-sighted person. Retailers declare that, if there is no revival in cigars, they will be forced to increase the price of pipe tobacco. For this reason, and because of the widening unemployment in the cigar trade, they invoke the sympathy of the Labour Party. We hope that they will press their case in Parliament. A debate on the subject would be equally profitable for our tax-masters, our more ardent tariff reformers, and our horny-handed sons of toil.

A Desperate Remedy.

Is bigamy justifiable in any circumstances? The moralist will answer "No," but it may be admitted that some of the excuses which have been pleaded on its behalf are more plausible than others. The despairing house-hunter will have a certain sympathy with the extreme course to which a French railway-worker has been driven by the crise de logement. After he had married a widow of seventy-five the police tracked down an existing wife and he was prosecuted for bigamy. His defence was that, at the end of a long and vain search for lodgings, the widow had offered him a room on the indispensable condition of matrimony, and that necessity had forced him to accept. His plea was scouted and the crise de logement will not trouble him for the next two years. Certainly his fraud upon a trusting heart was unpardonable, but certainly also the temptation which "drove him to cheat to get out of the street" was intense. Only those can realise it who, whether in Le Mans or Dublin or Belfast, have pursued a hopeless quest from door to door. We wonder how many perfectly legitimate unions have been contracted since the war between homeless bachelors and spinsters or widows who added to vacant hearts the still more compelling attraction of vacant apartments. Here we have, perhaps, to some extent, the explanation of a high and increasing marriage rate.

DUBLIN CITY RATES FOR 1921.

THE PROBABLE INCREASE.

The Finance Committee of the Dublin Corporation is preparing the estimates for the coming year. There has been a good deal of speculation as to the probable figure at which a rate will have to be struck, in order to carry on the publice services for the ensuing twelve months.

At the moment the work has not sufficiently advanced to enable an exact figure to be mentioned, but an authority in close touch with affairs is very hopeful that the pessimistic reports which have been in circulation will not be justified. He believes that, while there will be an increase on the rate struck last year, it will not be considerable.

In the estimates the Committee is not taking into consideration certain awards for malicious injury which have been made, and, of course, it is not calculating on the Treasury grants which are being withheld because of the refusal of the Corporation to subject its books to audit by the Local Government Board.

The demands of the Dublin Union and the Richmond Lunatic Asylum have not yet been dealt with, and it is mainly upon these that the figure at which the rate will be struck now depends.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The high pressure system in the north is moving eastward, and the general wind current will be more westerly. The weather will be mainly fair, with some local showers, especially in the north.

Ireland.—Wind westerly, moderate or fresh, mainly fair, but some local showers; visibility good; mild during the day, but risk of night frost.

Dixon and Hempenstall, Barometers, 12 Suffolk street, Dublin.—(Advt.)

the pledged assets will provide Austria with the means—her Customs revenues and her tobacco monopoly, with others—to raise collateral security for gold bonds to be issued under the Ter Meulen credit scheme which the League of Nations has launched. In effect, the plan means that, so far as Britain is concerned, the Government will guarantee credits to Austria up to 35 per cent. of the gold value of the assets that she is free to pledge, provided that these credits are used to buy goods of British manufacture. The scheme is an admirable one, but it would be idle to pretend that its operation will make Austria's path absolutely smooth. The most that can be expected is that it will remove some of the greatest obstructions. The unhappy country's recovery depends more upon her ability to manufacture and sell goods than upon the granting of credits to purchase them. Therefore, we attach more importance to the Porto Rosa Conference than to the interesting experiment with the Ter Meulen scheme. In a word, her people must be prepared to shoulder a tremendous burden of taxation and to make national economy a fine art.

The Cigar Trade.

The present state of the cigar trade has a powerful moral for the Chancellor of the Exchequer and a painful interest for every pipe-smoker. The ad valorem duty of 50 per cent. which the last Budget put on imported cigars has proved to be a boomerang in every respect. It has reduced the yield from taxation by more than one-half, has hurt the retailer, and has penalised the Havana cigar without helping the British manufacturer. The abolition of the duty was demanded on Thursday by a conference which represented 275,000 retail tobacconists. Mr. Chamberlain has reaped only £313,000 from the new duty and has lost income tax on the profit—estimated at £500,000—of which it has deprived the retailers. Forty million cigars, representing locked-up capital, are lying in bond. Others, to the value of £2,000,000, are maturing—or rusting—on the merchants' shelves. British cigar-makers are out of work as a result of the "slump" in cigar-smoking. It was stated on Thursday that men do not smoke cigars nowadays through dislike of being called "profiteers." We have here an excellent example of the bad and far-reaching effects of uneconomic taxation, and an example, too, of the economic interdependence of luxuries and necessaries. The working man who, sucking his clay pipe, thinks that his withers are unwrung by the big duty on cigars, is a short-sighted person. Retailers declare that, if there is no revival in cigars, they will be forced to increase the price of pipe tobacco. For this reason, and because of the widening unemployment in the cigar trade, they invoke the sympathy of the Labour Party. We hope that they will press their case in Parliament. A debate on the subject would be equally profitable for our tax-masters, our more ardent tariff reformers, and our horny-handed sons of toil.

A Desperate Remedy.

Is bigamy justifiable in any circumstances? The moralist will answer "No," but it may be admitted that some of the excuses which have been pleaded on its behalf are more plausible than others. The despairing house-hunter will have a certain sympathy with the extreme course to which a French railway-worker has been driven by the crise de logement. After he had married a widow of seventy-five the police tracked down an existing wife and he was prosecuted for bigamy. His defence was that, at the end of a long and vain search for lodgings, the widow had offered him a room on the indispensable condition of matrimony, and that necessity had forced him to accept. His plea was scouted and the crise de logement will not trouble him for the next two years. Certainly his fraud upon a trusting heart was unpardonable, but certainly also the temptation which "drove him to cheat to get out of the street" was intense. Only those can realise it who, whether in Le Mans or Dublin or Belfast, have pursued a hopeless quest from door to door. We wonder how many perfectly legitimate unions have been contracted since the war between homeless bachelors and spinsters or widows who added to vacant hearts the still more compelling attraction of vacant apartments. Here we have, perhaps, to some extent, the explanation of a high and increasing marriage rate.

DUBLIN CITY RATES FOR 1921.

THE PROBABLE INCREASE.

The Finance Committee of the Dublin Corporation is preparing the estimates for the coming year. There has been a good deal of speculation as to the probable figure at which a rate will have to be struck, in order to carry on the public services for the ensuing twelve months.

At the moment the work has not sufficiently advanced to enable an exact figure to be mentioned, but an authority in close touch with affairs is, very hopeful that the pessimistic reports which have been in circulation will not be justified. He believes that, while there will be an increase on the rate struck last year, it will not be considerable.

In the estimates the Committee is not taking into consideration certain awards for malicious injury which have been made, and, of course, it is not calculating on the Treasury grants which are being withheld because of the refusal of the Corporation to subject its books to audit by the Local Government Board.

The demands of the Dublin Union and the Richmond Lunatic Asylum have not yet been dealt with, and it is mainly upon these that the figure at which the rate will be struck now depends.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The high pressure system in the north is moving eastward, and the general wind current will be more westerly. The weather will be mainly fair, with some local showers, especially in the north.

Ireland.—Wind westerly, moderate or fresh, mainly fair, but some local showers; visibility good; mild during the day, but risk of night frost.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

There is a curious discrepancy between Mr. Law's letter of resignation as read out by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons and the version subsequently furnished to the Press. In the former he wrote: "In these circumstances I have no choice but to abandon my political career." In the latter the sentence ends at "choice." The suggested explanation, which everyone will hope is correct, is that when writing the letter he took a more gloomy view of his prospects of recovery than his doctors' opinion really justified.

Mr. Bonar Law was seen by some of his old friends to-day and they were able to bring to the House of Commons the good news that he seemed already somewhat better in health and spirits as compared with the previous day. It is concluded that the change is due to the right hon. gentleman's sense of relief that he no longer bears the burden of heavy responsibilities.

Some of your contemporaries in Ireland seem to have jumped to the conclusion that Mr. Law's illness is "diplomatic," and that his retirement is due to differences of opinion either with the Prime Minister or with his own party. Needless to say, there is no foundation for the suggestion which would hardly have occurred to anybody acquainted with Mr. Law's character. Friends and foes alike know that he is absolutely loyal and as straight as a gun-barrel. If he could not support the Prime Minister's policy on any matter—and, no doubt, such cases have occurred more than once during the past four years—he would have told him so, and, if he could not induce him to modify it, would have parted company with him. Similarly, if he could not have carried his party with him in support of the Government's policy—and some recent legislation must have strained their allegiance—he would have promptly redeemed the pledge which he gave publicly on joining the Coalition and have resigned the leadership. It was largely due to his sanity and unselfishness that the breaking-point was never reached.

But it would be idle to suggest that it was never approached. Whoever is the new leader will be expected by a considerable section of the Unionist Party to adopt the Conservative standpoint more strongly than Mr. Law always did. In fact, there was a strain of Radicalism in his composition which made him more sympathetic with some of the Prime Minister's schemes than many of his followers thought wise. They will be disappointed if the new leader does not show himself a little less—I will not say pliable—but easy of conviction.

It does not at all follow that an early break-up of the Coalition need be expected. Many of the reasons that brought it into existence are still operative, and, moreover, the Prime Minister, through the passage of time and the force of circumstances, has become a good deal more Conservative in temperament than he was ten years ago. I see no reason why the Coalition should dissolve for many a long day.

Few people probably know how near and intimate have been the relations of the Prime Minister and Mr. Bonar Law. They have virtually lived under the same roof for years, since 10 and 12 Downing street communicate with each other. Consequently, night after night the two have been in close counsel together until early morning, and it was no unusual sight for those on duty to see Mr. Bonar Law passing, smoking a big pipe, from the Prime Minister's home into his own, long after all the rest of the world was in bed.

Owing to the need for immediate action, even the King was in ignorance of the retirement of Mr. Bonar Law until it was an accomplished fact. A telegram was sent off at once advising him of the necessity of the case, and this "wire" was handed to him on the course at Aintree. The King sent long messages to the Prime Minister and to Mr. Bonar Law regretting the circumstances. Many people rather expect that the King will confer some mark of honour on Mr. Bonar Law, but, in the entourage of the late leader, it is said that he attaches no importance to such honours and does not seek them.

Sir Edward Carson finds that it will be necessary for him to sail for Gibraltar to-morrow instead of on Monday. The hope, therefore, that he might preside at the meeting of the Unionist Party on the latter day must be disappointed. The right hon. gentleman is sending a letter to the meeting explaining his absence, which he greatly regrets, and giving his views on the question of selecting a leader to succeed Mr. Bonar Law. Sir Edward expresses himself strongly favourable to the selection of Mr. Austen Chamberlain, alike in recognition of that gentleman's distinguished career and services and in the interests of the Unionist Party and the country.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain is now a strong favourite for the leadership, and it is taken for granted that, if elected, he will be appointed leader of the House of Commons. In that case Sir Robert Horne may become Chancellor of the Exchequer. Should this come about, the rise of the latter would be extraordinary, for he has been in Parliament only two years, though he has qualified for the high post of Chancellor by being Minister of Labour and President of the Board of Trade.

The House is taking no chances in regard to the pending Easter holidays. Members, by sitting well into the early hours of the morning, disregarding tea time on Fridays, even relinquishing Saturday golf, intend that the business that remains to be got through before the end of next week shall be finished. To-day there were quite two hundred members present when Mr. Baldwin, the Financial Secretary to the Treasury, moved a supply vote of £800,000 for Civil Service war bonuses. In these days of financial stringency Mr. Baldwin had no easy task in commending this vote as a somewhat tardy recognition of the services which the permanent civil servants had rendered during the war. Sir Donald Maclean saw no reason why servants of the Crown should not take their share of the deprivations from which every section of the community was suffering at present. "You are much too generous," protested Sir Herbert Nield. Mr. T. Griffiths, for the Labour Party, supported the claims of the civil servants, and Mr. Baldwin having replied, the Committee, by 183 to 39, decided that the bonus should be given.

The third reading of the German Reparation Bill, which was taken immediately after the report, led to the reiteration of arguments on the general policy of the Bill. The speech of the day was made by the Attorney-General, Sir G. Hewart, who gave a most lucid and masterly exposition of the legal problems connected with the action of the Allies. A full House followed his points with the closest attention. There were no quibbles or side trackings, but a plain statement of facts and a presentation of the legal position which at once delighted and enlightened the House. The Bill was read a third time by 132 to 15.

THE CHAPEL ROYAL.

The season of the Irish Festival was celebrated in the Chapel Royal yesterday by Festival Evensong, which was sung by the choir at 5.30. From 4.30 to 5.30 the band of the 2nd Battalion Royal Berkshire Regiment (by kind permission of Major F. H. Moore, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding) played a well-chosen programme of music in a manner which reflected the highest credit upon their bandmaster, Mr. E. A. Weaver, L.R.A.M. Among their performances may be mentioned the second and third movements of Tschaikowsky's "Pathétique" Symphony, No. V.; "The Doge's March," from Roffe's incidental music to "The Merchant of Venice"; Sullivan's "Lost Chord"; and "Triumphant March," by Ninchilelli.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE OUTLOOK.

The Times, in a leading article on the outlook, says:—The resignation of Mr. Bonar Law is the most important event in domestic politics since the General Election. It has brought to the surface currents and tendencies that might for a while have remained hidden if the close co-operation between the Prime Minister and the late Leader of the House could have continued. It has sharpened the sense of instability that had begun to invade members of the Coalition, and has spread conviction that, whatever arrangements may be made to fill Mr. Bonar Law's place, the position in future cannot be the same as it has been in the past. Thanks to the self-effacement of the Conservative leader, the Prime Minister has been able to control the Conservative majority in the House of Commons as though it were a party majority of his own. In point of fact, the Prime Minister has no party and no party "machine," except by the grace of the Conservative managers. But he has a large personal following in the country and a number of personal adherents in the House of Commons. The question whether, in his search for a party, he should revert to the left or hasten his steps towards the right, has been one of the issues most keenly debated in political circles for months past. Some of his colleagues and supporters held a year ago that his safest course would be to promote the formation of a "Centre Party," but the scheme then miscarried. As long as he could count upon the habitual complaisance of the Conservative organisation, through his alliance with Mr. Bonar Law, the evil—or the good—day of final choice could be indefinitely postponed. It may still be possible to postpone it, but, unless the premonitions of political seers are at fault, it can no longer be put off indefinitely. Whatever decisions may be taken, and however offices may be redistributed, the general effect of the changes wrought by Mr. Bonar Law's resignation should be to clarify the political outlook. It should not be forgotten that, though the Prime Minister cannot dispense with the support of the Conservative Party, the Conservatives might be hard put to it to dispense with him. The alliance between them which, under the auspices of Mr. Bonar Law, was to some extent a love match, may, indeed, become a marriage of reason, but it may not on that account be less firm or less enduring. On Thursday night Mr. Lloyd George appeared deliberately to antagonise the Labour Party, just as he recently poured scorn upon the Independent Liberals. Though it is sometimes his habit to chasten in public those for whom he feels private affection, there was little savour of wooing in these pronouncements. Nor was there altogether the rancour of a rejected suitor. Whenever the Prime Minister makes his choice—and it may be a momentous choice for himself and for the country—he will be able to claim that he has made it with his eyes open and fully conscious of all that is at stake. But in making it he will be well advised to remember that in the long run principles and character count more with the British people than any combination of persons or any exercise of brilliant individual gifts. For two years the country has wandered in a wilderness of compromises. It is athirst for frankness and straightforwardness. The significance of the present critical position is that it may herald a return to greater sincerity in public life.

BLOW TO THE COALITION.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times says:—If there had ever been any doubt of the election of Mr. Austen Chamberlain to succeed Mr. Bonar Law as leader of the Unionist Party in the House of Commons, it was finally removed yesterday. It is now expected that the choice of Mr. Chamberlain will be unanimous. He adds that a proposal has been discussed that the meeting should offer the leadership of the Unionist Party to Mr. Lloyd George. This idea, undoubtedly, has great attractions for some of the younger Unionists, but it was frowned upon by their elders. If Mr. Lloyd George should be nominated at the meeting, it will be stated on his authority that he could not accept the position. It is realised that the Coalition has suffered a sufficiently severe shock through the retirement of Mr. Bonar Law. It would be tempting Providence to run any more risks for the present. The frank acceptance of Mr. Lloyd George as Tory leader would inevitably lead to the creation of a new party and the formulation of a new policy. The Unionists, disturbed as they are at the course of events, are not willing to go to such lengths.

ITALY AND IRELAND.

A Rome message to The Times states:—The Popolo Romano to-day devotes a leading article to the affairs of Ireland, quotes at considerable length from the report of the Labour Party's Commission, and concludes with the hope that it will not be accused of interfering in the internal affairs of another country. The article goes on:—It is a question deeply interesting to the feeling of humanity, and one to which no civilised country can avoid giving attention. Besides, we trust that the sincere expression of the sentiments of the people of other countries will help to intensify the efforts of those currents of opinion in England which seek to bring the Government to a more serious consideration of the elementary rights of individuals in the name of those principles which united the Allies in their glorious struggle against Prussian militarism. This expression of popular feelings will also show the noble Irish nation, wearied by a long and bloody martyrdom, that it has the cordial moral support of all civilised peoples.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY IN NEW YORK.

The New York Correspondent of The Times says:—Several thousand Irish sympathisers took part yesterday in what is generally described as the quietest St. Patrick's Day celebration for many years. The procession included large numbers of ex-soldiers, with several hundred present members of the 69th Regiment, a National Guard unit composed of Irishmen, most of whom were in uniform. The two outstanding points of the celebration were the anger displayed by the ecclesiastical representatives over the carrying in the procession of the banner inscribed: "As much religion as you like from Rome, but no politics," and the fact that the reviewing stand was this year removed from the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral. The incident of the banner nearly led to a violent quarrel on the reviewing stand between Father Duffy, a well-known Irish priest, who was formerly an Army chaplain, and the organiser of the parade, while hardly an account of the procession fails to comment on the changed situation of the stand, and the fact that Monsignor Hayes, the Roman Catholic Archbishop, did not review the parade, as has been the custom for many years past. The procession, in which dozens of violently anti-British banners were displayed, was watched in complete silence by many thousands of spectators massed along the pavement. Conspicuous on the reviewing stand were Dr. von Mach, who presided over the German meeting against the Allies in Madison Square Gardens two weeks ago, and Mr. J. Sylvester Viereck, the leader of the German community in New York, who recently led a deputation to the President, asking for adequate representation for German-Americans in the Government.

THE KING AT AINTREE.

ROYAL PARTY'S ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION.

The King, accompanied by the Queen, the Prince of Wales, and Princess Mary, was present with the other guests of the Earl and Countess of Derby at Aintree Races yesterday. Prince Henry travelled from Aldershot, and joined the Royal party.

The Prince of Wales and Lord Stanley visited the racecourse at seven o'clock in the morning. His Royal Highness walking freely among the jockeys and inspecting the various horses. He returned to Knowsley at half-past nine o'clock.

The Royal party arrived on the course at a quarter to one o'clock, and the Royal Standard was hoisted over the grand stand beside the Union Jack and the French tricolour. The band in the enclosure played the National Anthem, followed by "God Bless the Prince of Wales." The closely-packed thousands in Tattersall's, the Members' Enclosure, and on the course generally cheered incessantly for several minutes.

The Royal party took luncheon shortly after their arrival, but came out on to the balcony in time to see the first race. Before the second race the Princess and Lord Stanley went down on to the course, and afterwards the younger members of the Royal party were frequently seen in the paddock or at the weighing-room. Princess Mary was present at most of the parades in the paddock, and was enthusiastically greeted on each occasion.

THE GRAND NATIONAL.

After the Grand National Steeplechase, Their Majesties and party congratulated the owner, jockey, and trainer. Mr. Brown, owner and rider of The Bore, who was second, was sent for specially and congratulated.

ROYAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

The departure for Knowsley was marked by further demonstrations of enthusiastic loyalty.

At Knowsley later, the guests witnessed a sparring exhibition by Carpentier and his partner. Carpentier and other prominent sportsmen, with Mr. J. Sexton and other Labour leaders were among Lord Derby's Grand National guests at Aintree.

After dinner, a private cinematographic picture exhibition was given.

HIS MAJESTY'S LIEUTENANT FOR COUNTY MONAGHAN.

The Lord Lieutenant has been pleased to appoint Sir John Leslie, Bart., as His Majesty's Lieutenant for County Monaghan, in the place of the late Lord Rossmore.

THE NEW UNIONIST LEADER.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S ELECTION PROBABLE.

COMING MINISTERIAL CHANGES.

MR. BONAR LAW'S POSITION.

Lord Edmund Talbot, Chief Unionist Whip, as convener of the Unionist Party meeting to be held at the Carlton Club on Monday, will preside over its proceedings.

There is now every probability that Mr. Austen Chamberlain will be unanimously elected Leader of the Unionist Party in the House of Commons.

It may be taken for granted that Mr. Chamberlain will not attempt to continue the duties which Mr. Bonar Law found impossible, and that a new Chancellor of the Exchequer will be appointed.

Sir Robert Horne's name is freely mentioned in connection with this post. A possible alternative, however, is the choice of Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Secretary for War, who had much experience in financial matters while acting as Minister without portfolio.

The contemplated changes in the Law Officers will probably be made at the same time as these appointments, Sir Ernest Pollock succeeding Sir Gordon Hewart as Attorney-General, and Mr. Leslie Scott becoming Solicitor-General.

Sir Gordon Hewart's nomination as Lord Chief Justice is expected shortly.

MR. BONAR LAW.

LETTER TO HIS CONSTITUENCY.

Mr. Bonar Law has sent the following letter to Mr. Archibald Craig, Glasgow, President of the Glasgow Central Division Unionist Association:—

"11 Downing street, Whitehall,
"17th March.

"DEAR MR. CRAIG,—I have quite unexpectedly found it necessary to resign my position in the Government and as Leader of our party. I did not anticipate that it would be necessary for me to give up my duties immediately. I was, however, examined by my doctor two days ago, and he informed me that my physical condition was such that it was impossible for me to go on without the certainty of an inevitable breakdown. As regards the constituency, I should be grateful if the Unionist Association of the Central Division would allow me to continue as the member in the meantime, although it will not be possible for me to give adequate attention to my duties, as I am going abroad immediately.

"Yours sincerely,
"A. BONAR LAW."

FRENCH PRESS APPRECIATION.

A number of Paris papers comment on the withdrawal of Mr. Bonar Law from political life.

The Echo de Paris says:—It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the decision taken by Mr. Bonar Law. It reviews the difficulties of the present position of the Coalition Government in Great Britain, and concludes by affirming that, in any case, for the present, the problems of home policy will occupy Mr. Lloyd George to a far greater extent than they have done latterly, and that in the present state of Europe this is not an advantage.

The Petit Parisien pays a tribute to the Leader of the House, declaring that his sympathy has ever been extended to France, and his convincing and discreet eloquence has rendered, on many occasions, the greatest services to the French cause. The paper concludes by expressing regret that such a good friend to France should leave the political arena at a moment when France has such great need of him.

FATE OF KRONSTADT.

CONFLICTING ACCOUNTS.

REPORTED FALL OF THE FORTRESS.

A Riga telegram, dated Thursday, says—At 8 p.m. Tchitcherin telegraphed to the Russian representative at Riga that Kronstadt was taken by the Bolshevists at 9 o'clock this morning. It is thought by those who know Kronstadt well that there must have been treachery, as Kronstadt was believed to be practically impregnable. No details are yet to hand.

Another telegram, dated Thursday, 11 a.m., states that the batteries captured by the Reds numbered three, five, six and seven, and are situated on the rocks lying a little distance from the shore. Refugees state that the garrison proper has decided to fight to the last man. The Red attacks continue from both the northern Finnish and southern sides of the Gulf. A heavy cannonade continues, and the losses are great. The ice, it is said, is black with the dead.

Telegraphing from Helsingfors on Friday, Reuter's Correspondent says—Throughout the night fugitives from Kronstadt have been arriving at the Finnish frontier. The roads leading to Teriski are crowded with refugees, some on foot, walking in close ranks, and others in sledges, carrying with them provisions. The Finnish Guards at Teriski have been ordered to collect the weapons thrown away by the refugees during their retreat, including 10,000 rifles.

Indirect confirmation has been received here, says a Paris telegram, of the collapse of the anti-Bolshevik rebellion at Kronstadt.

According to a Helsingfors telegram, dated Friday, the army is retreating from Kronstadt. The rebels blew up the warships Petropavlosk and Sevastopol. General Koslovsky has arrived in Finland.

CURFEW CASUALTIES.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

The following official statement was issued yesterday from Dublin Castle:—

"The Press has detailed very faithfully the inconveniences to which citizens are being put and the economic losses that are being sustained by traders and others as the result of the 9 o'clock Curfew Order, which was recently put into force in Dublin in consequence of repeated attacks in the streets of the City by armed civilians upon the forces of the Crown.

"The following statistics show further how grave is the danger to the public of these attacks, as compared with their slight measure of success against the Crown forces, upon whom they are directed.

"Since January 1st of this year there have been, within the Dublin Metropolitan Police area, 50 attacks on the forces of the Crown, resulting in the following casualties:—

	Killed.	Wounded.
Military	1	12
Police	4	8
Total	5	20

As compared with this:

	Killed.	Wounded.
Civilians	7	40

"Owing to the fact that the attackers, to secure their own safety, not only dress in civilian clothes, but also make use of the general public to cover their retreat, and in some cases even their attack itself, there were among these casualties a considerable proportion of women and children.

"The loss of life, the wounding of law-abiding and innocent people, the restrictions of public freedom of movement, and of trade—all are regrettable, but they are inevitable so long as outrages of this kind continue.

"The citizens of Dublin have the opportunity of influencing their elected representatives, who alone can bring pressure to bear on Messrs. Charles Burgess, Richard Mulcahy, and Michael Collins, the individuals who are directly responsible for organising and controlling this method of attack on the Crown forces, which is not only futile in its results, but callous in its disregard of public convenience and public safety alike."

LONDONDERRY CITY ASSIZES.

The Commission of Assize for the City of Londonderry was opened yesterday by Mr. Justice Gibson. Lord Justice Ronan presided in the Record Court. Their lordships were escorted from their lodgings to the Courthouse by an armed party of military and police in motor tenders.

Addressing the Grand Jury, Mr. Justice Gibson said that there were only five small cases of a trifling character for their consideration. As far as he could form an opinion from the police returns the condition of the city was much more favourable than any of the counties he had visited on this circuit.

THE GLASGOW CONSPIRACY TRIAL.

In the High Court of Justiciary at Edinburgh yesterday the trial was resumed of 16 alleged Sinn Fein prisoners, including a woman, before Lord Justice-General Clyde and a jury on charges of acting in concert with conspiracy to endanger life and property in the United Kingdom and of contravening the Explosives Substances Act and Firearms Act.

THREE AMBUSHES IN DUBLIN.

MILITARY LORRIES ATTACKED.

SEVERAL CIVILIANS WOUNDED.

NO MILITARY CASUALTIES.

A communiqué issued by General Headquarters, Dublin, last night stated:—

Between the hours of 7 and 8.30 p.m. to-night three ambushes of military lorries occurred in different parts of Dublin.

The first took place in Upper Sackville street, where five bombs were thrown. The fire was returned and some civilians were seen to fall, one of whom had just thrown a bomb.

The second ambush occurred in North Frederick street. Fire was returned, but the civilian casualties are unknown.

The third was near Portobello Bridge, where bombs were thrown. The fire was not returned in this instance.

There were no military casualties as the result of the three ambushes.

The attack in North Frederick street took place about 7 o'clock, at a short distance above the Abbey Presbyterian Church. According to people who were in the street two bombs were thrown, and a very heavy fire was returned by the soldiers in the lorries. At least two civilians were wounded. The Crown forces suffered no casualties.

Two large covered-in lorries containing soldiers, it seems, were travelling slowly up Rutland square, one slightly in advance of the other, and when they were near the L. S. E. motor works a bomb was thrown. It exploded between the lorries. Another bomb was thrown, and exploded alongside them. At once the soldiers opened fire in the direction from which they considered they had been attacked, and for some minutes they rapidly discharged their rifles. A couple of revolver shots were also heard.

At the time a good many people were passing along the street, but apparently there were no groups standing about. The slowly moving lorries seemed to attract a good deal of attention, and many people were looking in their direction when the first bomb was thrown. Following the explosions there was a panic-stricken rush for safety, and numbers of people unable to reach cover threw themselves flat on the pathway along the wall above the church. The driver of one tramcar which had been travelling close behind the lorries stopped his car suddenly, and another car which was following was not able to pull up in time to avoid a slight collision. No damage, however, was done, and none of the passengers in either tram was injured.

The military lorries drove on after the attack. People who were on the scene state that during the firing they saw three civilians fall wounded, a man and a woman on the church side of the street, and a man on the opposite side. Only two cases were admitted to hospital, and it has not been possible to ascertain the extent of the injuries, if any, sustained by the third person

The Corporation ambulance was summoned by telephone, and in it two persons, whose names are given as Margaret Shefe, aged 40, of 91 Dorset street, and Denis Wilson, aged 16, of 38 Iona road, were taken to the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital. Mrs. Shefe received a superficial bullet wound in the forehead. She states that she was passing along the street when the firing broke out and received a glancing blow from a bullet. The boy Wilson, was struck by a bullet in the right hip. The wound is not of a very serious description.

A short time after the attack military and Auxiliary police were active in the district. The streets were also patrolled by two armoured cars. For some time pedestrian traffic was "held up" and tram and other vehicular traffic was interrupted for a lengthy period. The soldiers and Auxiliary police took up positions at various points, and in numerous cases questioned and searched passers-by.

THE PORTOBELLO ATTACK.

Three civilians were admitted to hospitals in the city suffering from wounds received in South Richmond street, near Portobello Bridge, but it is believed that two others were also injured.

Shortly before 8 o'clock a bomb was thrown at a passing military lorry, but exploded on the street without injuring any of the soldiers. The soldiers did not fire in return, and the lorry continued on its journey. The bomb seems to have been of a more powerful type than the majority of those used in Dublin so far in attacks on the troops, judging by the number of persons injured and the loud explosion. The windows of Messrs. J. and T. Davy and Co.'s grocery establishment, 33 South Richmond street, were broken by pieces of the bomb, and it is stated that the concussion was so great that the windows of houses as far away as Waterloo road were shaken.

Three of the injured people were taken into Messrs. Davy's shop, and here everything possible was done for them, pending the arrival of the Corporation ambulance, which had been summoned. They were taken upstairs where they were attended by Dr. Goulding. The ambulance arrived in a short time, and a young man, named Michael O'Farrell, aged 18, of 10 Charlemont Mall, who had been injured in the back, was taken to the Meath Hospital. It has not been possible to obtain any information as to the full extent of his injuries or his condition, as the hospital authorities declined to answer any questions. Miss Mildred Potter, aged 21, of 4 Dolphin terrace, Dolphin's Barn, was conveyed in the ambulance to the Adelaide Hospital. Her right hand was injured, and she had also been struck with pieces of the bomb in both legs. None of her injuries is described as serious. Another girl, who has received a slight body wound, and was taken to Messrs. Davy's, declined to go to hospital, and left, saying that she would walk home. A rather serious case was also admitted to the Adelaide Hospital. This was a girl who was struck in the right leg by a fragment of the bomb. The piece remains embedded in the flesh, and an operation will have to be performed to remove it.

THE SACKVILLE STREET ATTACK.

Apart from the official report, it was impossible to obtain any particulars of the attack in Upper Sackville street.

AUDACIOUS ROBBERY IN DUBLIN.

ARMED MEN TAKE £40.

Several armed men entered the Engineering Department of the Post Office, on the second floor of 40 Sackville street, Dublin, yesterday, while Crown forces were searching in the street not far away, and compelled the staff to stand aside while they secured money and documents. When they had pocketed £40 of staff pay in cash and many official papers, they warned the staff not to move for some minutes, and then departed down the dimly lit stairway.

An official declared afterwards that the sum of money taken was trifling compared with the amounts taken in other similar raids. He had felt that such a thing was bound to occur, for the money could not be satisfactorily guarded there.

SEARCHES IN DUBLIN.

ACTIVITY OF CROWN FORCES.

R.I.C. Auxiliaries spent a considerable time yesterday afternoon at an unused broken-windowed house on Lower Ormond quay, the scene of a recent ambush, searching for arms or other signs of revolutionary activity. It is not known whether they found anything of that kind.

The premises of the Sean Connolly Sinn Fein Club, which were visited by Crown forces three months ago, were again entered early yesterday morning and thoroughly searched. Walls and floors were opened.

The premises of Mr. McGlynn, builder and contractor, of Portobello, were searched by a military party yesterday, and Messrs. Sean and Peter McGlynn and a workman were arrested.

CROWN FORCES ACTIVE.

Crown forces were active in many parts of the city last night. About 7.30 four tenders containing Auxiliary Police searched all passengers on tramcars and pedestrians in Great Brunswick street, but no arrests are reported. Military and Auxiliary Police were again active in the neighbourhood as "Curfew" hour approached, and small armoured cars with searchlights patrolled the streets. During the "Curfew" period the patrols frequently illuminated the streets with searchlights.

MURDER IN COUNTY LIMERICK.

EX-SOLDIER SHOT DEAD.

THE CLIFDEN SHOOTING.

The body of an unknown man, shot dead, an official report says, was found yesterday morning at Plassy Mills, three miles from Limerick.

Telegraphing last night, our Limerick Correspondent states:—A mysterious affair was reported at William street Police Barrack early this morning, when the constable in charge was informed that the dead body of a young man, having several bullet wounds in it, had been found on the river bank near Plassy Mills, at the Limerick side. The people about the locality did not know the deceased man but some of them stated that towards midnight on Thursday they heard shots. The police at once instituted inquiries, and ascertained that the name of the deceased man was John O'Grady, an ex-soldier, living in Limerick.

He had been, it was stated, out of work for some time, and was looking for employment. O'Grady's people reside in the Boherbuoy district. What brought him late at night so far from Limerick has not been ascertained, but his dead body bears unmistakable marks of how he met his death. There was a bullet wound in the head, one at each side of the neck, and others in the abdomen.

He had been dead for some hours when the body was discovered. Rosary beads were found in his hands. A number of papers were also found which proved his identity, and the remains were removed later to the mortuary at the new barracks, pending the holding of a military inquiry.

Two arrests have been made. A military inquiry was opened to-day and adjourned.

THE SHOOTING AT CLIFDEN.

HOW THE POLICE WERE ATTACKED.

Our Galway Correspondent telegraphed yesterday:—Constable Thomas Sweeney, who was shot at Clifden on Wednesday night, had his right leg amputated above the thigh at St. Bride's Hospital, Galway, this afternoon. Little hope is entertained of his recovery. A native of Augrim, County Galway, Sweeney had served in the London Metropolitan Police, and joined the Irish Guards on the outbreak of the war. He was slightly wounded, and joined the Royal Irish Constabulary upon demobilisation. In Wednesday night's attack he received two bullet wounds in the right leg and gangrene set in, rendering amputation imperative. He also received a bullet wound in the left leg, and a bullet of small calibre struck him in the face. Constable C. O. Reynolds was a native of Longford, and leaves a wife and one child. The remains are being removed to Longford for interment.

From the fuller story of the shooting obtained to-day it would appear that the four policemen were patrolling the town about 10 p.m. They were approaching Market square, two men walking on the footway on each side of the street, and when Constables Reynolds and Sweeney came as far as the corner at Mr. E. J. King's shop a number of young men, variously estimated estimated at from five to nine, approached and immediately opened fire with automatic pistols. Constable Reynolds received bullets in the breast and head, but he appears to have been able to draw his revolver, although he never used it, and to have staggered some distance before he died. Constable Sweeney, although severely wounded, also drew his revolver and collapsed on the street. The attackers rushed towards the two policemen on the other side of the street, but the constables retreated towards the barracks, which is scarcely two hundred yards from the scene of the shooting, discharging their revolvers as they went. Securing reinforcements, they returned for their dead and wounded comrades, but the attackers appear to have disappeared.

It is difficult to get an accurate account of what subsequently occurred, but the allegation is made by the police that shots were fired at them from some houses. The police opened fire on the streets, and this was sustained at intervals throughout the night. Some accounts say that an attack was made on the police barracks, but I have no information to sustain this report. The police endeavoured to telegraph to Galway for reinforcements, but found that the wires had been cut. A wireless message was, however, got through, and at 12.20 yesterday morning thirty police left for the scene on a special train, armed men accompanying the driver and guard. Meanwhile the military drove by road, and Dr. Sandys and Surgeon O'Malley, who had been summoned by telephone, left shortly after 2 a.m., arriving in Clifden at six. At least nine houses in the town were then in flames. Many of the inhabitants remained in ignorance of the occurrence of the previous night until the following morning. Intermittent explosions, and flames that illuminated the countryside for miles, and occasional bursts of musketry fire warned them that something was afoot. Many remained huddled in terror in their back rooms throughout the night.

It was stated to-day that Mr. John Joseph MacDonnell was trying to make his way to the police station to procure assistance to put out the fire in his father's hotel when he was shot. Early in the morning Mr. Peter Clancy was wounded by a revolver bullet. He was conveyed in a military lorry to Galway along with Constable Sweeney, and he now lies at the County Hospital.

Some houses also, it is alleged, have been burned in the country districts. It is stated that the number now total sixteen. There is no truth in the report that the house of Thomas Wheelan was burned. Crown Forces visited the scene and "rounded up" all the young men in the district.

LEVYING WAR ON THE KING.

CROSS-EXAMINATION OF SINN FEIN OFFICIAL.

The feature of the sixth day's proceedings in connection with the trial of seven men in Cork, on the charge of levying war against the King, was the severe cross-examination of the accused. Patrick O'Sullivan, who swore in his direct evidence that he had been "on the run" from Sinn Fein, and was a prisoner in the house when it was surrounded by military

In reply to the prosecutor, he admitted that he had been secretary of the Cove Arbitration Court A summons which he signed as "Padraig O'Sullivan, Clerk of the Parish Court of Cove," was headed, in Irish, "The Free State of Ireland," and it referred to a publichouse in Queenstown and the Irish Republican police.

I put it to you that you are a Section Commander of the Irish Republican Army? Never, sir.

In further cross-examination, the accused admitted that his court covered Queenstown, Midleton, Carrigtwohill, and the whole of East Cork at times. While "on the run" from Sinn Fein he was never more than twenty miles from his home. The accused mentioned a number of persons connected with the Volunteers, and their rank. When the military came on Sunday handcuffs and a blindfold were taken off him, which gave him his life.

Re-examined by Mr. McCarthy, for the defence, accused said that he was not a spy on Sinn Fein.

The further hearing was adjourned until to-day.

HOUSE-BURNING.

According to an official report about forty armed men awoke the three women servants in the house of Mrs. Lindsay, in the Croom district, on the 15th inst., and gave them short notice to remove their personal valuables. The servants were afterwards locked in an outhouse while the raiders set fire to the dwellinghouse, and attempted to set fire to motor cars. An alarm was raised and they fled. The dwellinghouse and everything in it were consumed. Mrs. Lindsay herself was kidnapped on the 17th February, it is believed on the ground that she had given information to the police concerning an ambush in the district.

At one o'clock yesterday morning masked men, four of them armed with revolvers, broke into the house of James Davidson, of Rohintown, Enfield, and set fire to the house, which was burned to ashes.

About ten o'clock on Thursday night three masked men, one of whom was armed with a revolver, entered the house of John Daly, postman, Enfield, put his family out of the house, and then set fire to it. It also was burned to ashes. The house adjoining, belonging to Lawrence Mangy, caught fire from Daly's premises and was burned down.

ROBBERIES UNDER ARMS IN BELFAST.

TWO MEN ARRESTED.

Two daring "hold-ups" took place in Belfast last night. In the first case, three armed men entered the offices of Messrs. James, Jones' street, and one of them presented a revolver at the head of the only occupant. The other two intruders then made a thorough search of the offices, and seized a sum of £15 in silver, with which they all three decamped. They were observed by a passer by, who followed one of them with a view to giving him into custody, but the man, who noticed that he was being followed, turned and fired a shot. Nobody was hit, but in the confusion which followed the man got away.

In the second case a bookmaker named Devlin was accosted in a quiet street near Queen's Bridge as he was on his way home. He was threatened with a revolver, and dispossessed of a bag containing £480. The police were informed as soon as possible, and early this morning arrested two men.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

BILLIARDS.

REECE v. NEWMAN.

At night, Newman again had matters all his own way, scoring 667 points to Reece's total of 177, and increasing his lead to 4,237. His chief breaks were 108 (full), 78, 69, 75, 70, and 77. Reece's best effort produced but 40. Closing scores:—Newman (in play), 14,667; Reece, 10,430.

BOLSHEVIST COMMANDER ARRESTED.

A telegram from Riga yesterday states:—Dzerjinsky, the Chief of the Bolshevist Extraordinary Commission, personally arrested General Kameneff, the Commander-in-Chief of the Bolshevist Armies, and Colonel Lebedeff, the Chief of his Staff, in Moscow to-day. The reason for the arrest is unknown.

THE MINERS' WAGES.

The adjourned delegate conference of the Miners' Federation took place in London yesterday to consider negotiations for a new wage basis. The delegates were obviously impressed with the owners' concessions, regarding them as more generous than they had expected, and there seemed to be a growing opinion that they could not hope for more.

At the close of the conference it was announced that a resolution had been adopted agreeing to take the opinion of the various districts by conference decision as to whether they were prepared temporarily to abandon the policy of the National Wages Board and the National Pool, and empower the National Executive to continue negotiations towards establishing a temporary agreement on the district basis for the period of the present abnormal state of trade and prices, the Executive Committee to proceed to secure principles for the future guidance of the districts for application in a more normal period of trade.

The conference was adjourned until next Thursday, when replies from the districts will be received, which will enable the delegates to arrive at a decision.

In a communication issued yesterday evening, the Mining Association states that certain published figures purporting to indicate the amount of the reductions in wages which will be made in various districts are misleading and inaccurate, and are in some cases less than the reductions which will be necessary to give effect to the owners' proposals.

REDUCTION OF RAILWAYMEN'S WAGES.

It is officially announced that, under a sliding-scale arrangement, based on the official cost of living figures, the railwaymen's wages will automatically be reduced by 5s. per week per man from April 1st next.

OBITUARY.

THE McGILLYCUDDY OF THE REEKS.

We regret to announce the death of Donagh Charles The McGillycuddy of the Reeks, which took place on Wednesday at his family residence in County Kerry. He was in his 69th year.

In early life, when an officer of the Royal Navy, lung trouble necessitated an unwilling retirement, and took him to Australia to overcome the threatened serious illness. Three years or so of the dry climate of the Antipodes having restored him to health. The McGillycuddy returned to Ireland and applied himself to the development of his ancestral property. A man of many ideas and many ideals, always deeply interested in the welfare of his country and fellow-countrymen—influenced also, no doubt, by his experience of the sea—the unfavourable conditions prevailing amongst the fisherfolk, the hardships of their lives, and the miserable return obtainable for their dangerous toil, took a firm hold on his sympathies. For several strenuous years he devoted himself to efforts, of much subsequent moment, towards the betterment of the position of the hardy fishermen around the coast.

As might be expected from one who claimed descent from one of the Kings of Munster, the McGillycuddy was animated by a deep love for his native land. His politics were not sectional, but broadly national. He married in 1881 Gertrude Laura, second daughter of Edmund Mullen, of Ringwood, Mass., U.S.A., and had two sons, the younger of whom was killed in the late war. The elder son, Lieutenant-Colonel Ross McGillycuddy, D.S.O., who succeeds to the title and estates, was originally in the Royal Artillery, and is at present serving in an Irish cavalry regiment. He was for some time well known for his prowess in the steeplechase field.

MR. HENRY PRINGLE.

The death occurred yesterday of Mr. Henry Pringle, at his residence, Clonboy, Clones, at the age of eighty-three years. Born at Ballinahone, Co. Tyrone, Mr. Pringle, after a few years of business experience in England, returned to Ireland and settled in Clones, where he spent the remainder of his life. Mr. Pringle was not only a successful business man, but had read widely, particularly in poetry, history, and economics. He was keenly interested in social work, and was all through his life a strong advocate of temperance reforms. Though personally a man of retiring disposition, Mr. Pringle was widely known in North Monaghan and the surrounding counties, and was held in respect by all creeds and classes. He is survived by his wife and by a family of four sons and one daughter. His eldest son, Mr. R. W. Pringle, barrister-at-law, died in Dublin in October, 1919, and another son is Dr. Harold Pringle, Professor of Physiology, T.C.D. The Rev. R. K. Hanna is a son-in-law.

MR. MICHAEL MURRAY, J.P.

The death occurred yesterday of Mr. Michael Murray, J.P., of 4 Gresham terrace, Kingstown, at a private nursing home in Dublin after an operation. He was well known in the commercial life of Dublin, where he carried on business as an umbrella manufacturer in St. Andrew street. He was also a director of the Dolphin Hotel Company for the past twenty years. Mr. Murray took an active interest in municipal affairs, and was for some years a member of the Dublin Corporation. He was also a member of the Blackrock Urban Council, of which he became chairman. When he had taken up residence in Kingstown Mr. Murray manifested a keen interest in local affairs, and was elected a member and vice-chairman of the Council, and a member of the Dublin County Council. He was seventy years of age.

THE REV. JOHN NAGLE, P.P.

The death has occurred from pneumonia of the Rev. John Nagle, P.P., Beagh, Gort, one of the most popular and energetic priests in the Galway Diocese He served as Chaplain in the South African War, and subsequently collected a substantial sum in South Africa for the Galway College and Cathedral. He established the Penny Dinners in Galway during his curacy in Rahoon.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO MR. P. F. HARTIGAN.

The racing community will learn with regret that Mr. P. F. Hartigan, the well-known Ogbourne trainer, met with an accident at his Liverpool hotel early yesterday morning, and died within an hour as the result of his injuries. It seems that at about two o'clock he was sitting at an open window, and, falling backwards, dropped from a great height to the ground. His principal patron was Sir John Noble, and on last Wednesday his Clarion ran fourth in the Lincolnshire Handicap.

An inquest was held at Liverpool yesterday on Mr. Hartigan. Mrs. Hartigan said that her husband was thirty-seven. He was of a most cheerful disposition. He had lost the sight of the right eye, and could not see in the dark. A verdict was returned that Mr. Hartigan was killed as the result of falling through a window. There was no evidence to show how he fell.

Mr. P. F. Hartigan, who came of a well-known Limerick family, was born at Tar Brook, Croom, thirty-seven years ago, and at an early age started training there, and, after achieving a fair share of success, removed to Rathduff House, near Cashel, where he quickly made his mark. He turned out numerous winners from that establishment for his chief patron, Mr. J. C. Lyons, and others in 1907 and 1908, and the following year went to Ogbourne, in Wiltshire, as private trainer for the late Mr. George Edwardes. He did splendid service for that gentleman, who died some six years ago. Mr. Hartigan joined up shortly after the war broke out, and saw service abroad in a cavalry regiment, being badly wounded and losing the sight of one eye. He resumed public training in 1919, and last year won nearly forty races, worth over £9,000.

PUBLIC BODIES AND THEIR ACCOUNTS.

SUBMISSION TO LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD.

The Committee of the Enniscorthy District Lunatic Asylum recently passed a resolution regarding the Local Government Board, as a result of which the Committee's accounts have been audited by Mr. R. Grubb, Local Government Auditor.

The Callan Board of Guardians have decided to send their minutes to the Local Government Board, and have asked for the Board's sanction to an overdraft at the bank.

CARLOW FAIR.

It is announced that the restrictions on the town of Carlow have been removed, and the monthly Pig and Cattle Fair will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday next.

THOUGHTS AND THEORIES.

HALF-HOURS WITH ASTRONOMY.

THE BACK OF BEYOND.

NATURE'S AWAKENING.

(BY C. H. B.)

AMONG THE STARS.

I am a perfect whale for that particular sort of useless information that does not have to be accurate in order to be entertaining. Most of the superficialities of science come within that category, but, if one goes far enough, there always arrives a point where exactitude becomes an end in itself. That is where I fall away I detest mathematics, because the only satisfaction to be derived from them is that of being right. To have only just missed the correct solution of a sum in algebra is not a gratifying sensation. But to have worked out some superficial problem of natural science—the problem, for example, of why birds sing—is intensely satisfying whether our theory is correct or otherwise, or whether, as is usually the case, we never live to discover whether it was right or wrong.

There are people in the world who take a ridiculous pleasure in being right—who stint their wives of pin-money in order to buy expensive encyclopædias out of which they may refute the unsuspecting. After the habit has really bitten into them they do not trouble any longer to look it up in the encyclopædia or the Oxford English Dictionary or "Who's Who." Instinct and cunning combined tell them exactly how unsuspecting their prey is, and, if he is one of the simpletons like myself, they simply overwhelm him with a, "My dear sir, if you will take the trouble to consult your Oxford English Dictionary, you will find," etc. They know that he has not got an Oxford English Dictionary. If he had, they would belabour him with Roget's "Thesaurus" or the Encyclopædia of the Laws of England. Of course, they have to take a chance on his not rushing off in a pet to consult the work in question at the National University or some other place where they specialise in the Laws of England. As a matter of fact, the quivering victim seldom does anything so unsatisfactory. He goes home and has a strong whiskey and soda, and says to his wife, "What a self-opinionated bounder that So-and-So is!"

We all agree with him, for there is no one so thoroughly odious as the man who is always right unless it is the man who is always putting other people right. To me they are doubly odious, because I do not want to be right all the time. It would be like always winning at golf. The fine flavour of victory would be lost. As things go, when, in addition to providing entertainment for the public, I am able, in the picturesque language of the Orient, to plunge the harpoon of truth into the vitals of self-assertion I experience a distinct sense of pleasure. The sensation is rare enough to be interesting. Not for me, then, the exact sciences, the mechanical pursuit of the inescapable. I like my facts—ground game though they be—to have a sporting chance. Your mathematician is a shooter of sitting birds. I despise him.

With some such thoughts in my head, and because it was what Robert Louis Stevenson calls a "fine night of stars," I decided a few evenings ago to take a fall out of the heavenly bodies. I did not rush off and borrow a telescope. There was the rolling heaven with all his signs revealed and there was I. My purpose was to get on nodding terms with the visible. I would take care of the constellations; and the nebulæ and comets and binary stars and the remote planets that have been proved to eleven places of decimals to be in a certain place at a certain time, if one only had a telescope big enough to spot them, might take care of themselves. Not mine to pry upon Infinity's toilet through a lens. But to be able to point a careless finger in a general North-easterly direction and say, "Let me see. That ought to be Formaldehyde in the Constellation of the Anteater," or "How bright Alpha Cameleopardi is to-night!"—well, I have always felt that there was an impression to be made along those lines.

I did not buy a telescope nor did I purchase a book on astronomy. I felt instinctively that a book on astronomy would begin where I wanted to leave off, or leave off where I wanted to begin. Text-books are like that. When I was an innocent child some kind person gave me a dear little book on astronomy. I read the first page and discovered that the light from Alpha Centauri, travelling at the rate of a hundred thousand miles a second, took four and a half years to reach the earth. Regarding this as a rather crude attempt to entrap me into an orgy of compound multiplication, I enquired artlessly, "Where is Alpha whatsisname now?" and they admitted shamefacedly that the star in question was not to be seen at the moment. Having got them, as it were, on the hip, I wanted to know how long it would take the dear little star to shine on Marechal Neil Villas, Ormonde road, Denmark Hill, S.W., and they admitted with a show of impatience that it never would. (I understand that there is no longer unanimity of opinion on the point, but in those days Einstein had not made himself heard). I endeavoured, as I remember, to pursue the argument to one or more of its logical conclusions, but was told abruptly to go away and eat my blasted bun. Thus, what might have developed into a fine flair for astronomical research, was nipped in the bud and I cultivated a distaste for astronomy books which has lingered.

But it was obvious that one could not learn more about the heavenly bodies simply by gazing fixedly at them; so I finally rummaged out a star chart which had once adorned a school atlas or a children's encyclopædia or something of the kind. I do not know if it was the usual kind of star chart, but I discovered at once that it was stuffed full of the most interesting ideas. In the first place, it appeared that the habit of star-gazing by hand had been popular among the ancients; in fact, there was no telling how ancient the practice was. The Greeks gazed a whole lot and the Persians, and in the intervals of having one another bitten to death by wild monkeys the Ptolemys gazed busily. But the prize gazers of the pre-telescope days were undoubtedly the Arabs. They named most of the stars in sight, and though later comers managed to re-name a few and the liberal-minded Saracens themselves retained the Greek names of a handful that had been marked down before their time, it is positively necessary that one should be able to lisp the patois of Haroun Al Raschid if one is to become an expert astronomer.

Astronomy in those spacious old days was a really engaging pursuit. You picked out a likely-looking mess of stars and gazed away until it suddenly dawned on you that it resembled a whale or a river or a pair of top-boots or a lady getting out of a cab. Then you wrote to the head Sheik, and, if he thought well of the idea, the constellation was plotted off and named accordingly. The star atlas which I had hunted out as a foundation for my studies looked like a zoological gardens gone mad, because the artist had drawn all the creatures after which the constellation had been named, and stuck the stars in their tails and ears. They must have been an imaginative race, those Arabs, for they could take a peppering of stars that looked like nothing but a sneeze on a window-pane, and imagine that it was a man leading a dancing bear or a billy goat.

Those that came first, of course, had the best chance; and it must be admitted that some of them spread themselves pretty well. I found one constellation—I forget whether it was the Hair of Berenice or the River Eridanus, or merely the jolly old Whale—that seemed to wander all over the map. The late comers who had to take what was left—the unstaked claims—had to gaze more imaginatively than their predecessors, because, as surely as you picked out a good-looking dog or a speaking likeness of Hercules, you found that the dog's nose or Hercules's left leg was already an integral part of some pre-established anatomy. Still, the late comers did pretty well. At any rate, they

EDUCATION IN ULSTER.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE OF TEACHERS.

In response to an invitation sent out by Mr Cecil Webb, Lisburn, on behalf of the Association of Principals of Technical Schools, and of the Representative Council of Officers of Technical Instruction, a meeting of representatives of various organisations of teachers was held in the Royal Academical Institution, Belfast, on 12th inst.

Representatives of various Associations having spoken on the general desire for co-ordination and the willingness of their respective organisations to co-operate, the meeting then considered the situation which would arise when the Government of Ireland Act would come into force. On the motion of Major Stanley, seconded by Mr. Boyce, and supported by Mr. Macquillan, it was resolved unanimously:—

That this Conference of Representatives of Associations of Teachers engaged in primary, secondary, and technical education, are of opinion that it is not desirable to set up temporary departments for primary, secondary, and technical education in Belfast, but rather to commence immediately the setting up of a proper Department of Education for Northern Ireland.

On the motion of Mr. Harbison, seconded by Mr. Gillespie, it was unanimously resolved—

That, pending the establishment of such a Department of Education in Northern Ireland, the existing Boards be requested to carry on provisionally.

The Conference decided that, under the circumstances, it must go forward with the consideration of matters of immediate interest involved by the probable early introduction of an Education Bill for Northern Ireland, and for the present it would devolve upon the individual representatives of the various organisations, whose ramifications extend throughout all Ireland, to keep in sympathy and close touch with the general ideals of those associations.

The Chairman submitted to the delegates a list of educational questions which had been prepared by the Secretary as a basis for discussion at future meetings.

The Secretary was instructed to call the next meeting at an early date.

GENERAL TOWNSHEND IN BELFAST.

DIFFICULTIES IN THE TURKISH CAMPAIGN.

General Sir Charles Townshend, M.P., visited Belfast yesterday in connection with the Presbyterian Church War Memorial Fund, and was entertained to a civic luncheon in the City Hall by the Lord Mayor (Councillor William F. Coates, D.L.), when over ninety guests were present.

In proposing the toast of General Townshend's health, the Lord Mayor said that he agreed with the statement that General Townshend's decision to stand at Kut saved the British from being kicked out of Mesopotamia.

General Townshend, in responding, said, in reference to the campaign in Mesopotamia, that after he had taken 360 miles of territory and won three battles, he warned the Government about sending him on, and said to the Commander-in-Chief—"If you give me 40,000 men I will guarantee not only to take Bagdad, but not to be kicked out of it; but now that I have only got 8,000 bayonets it is up to you to reinforce me." The Government did not give him the reinforcements he asked for—perhaps they had not them to give—and he was ordered on, with the result that was well known. He did not surrender Kut until he was ordered to do it by the Commander-in-Chief in Mesopotamia. That was another thing that had not been brought out. When he arrived at Constantinople he was received as if he had been Commander of Constantinople. Two mornings after he had attempted to escape Enver Pasha was overthrown, and another Prime Minister was appointed. He sent for him (General Townshend). Addressing him, the Prime Minister said —"General, we have sent for you to help us to come out of the war." They would see, therefore, that his mission was still operating. General Townshend then detailed his efforts to bring Turkey out of the war, and his ultimate success. As he had pointed out to the House of Commons, there was a great necessity to have the Treaty of Sevres revised. If they did not come to an arrangement with the Turks the Turks would invite the Russian Bolshevists in, and then England and France might become involved in another great and difficult war.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, in proposing the health of the Lord Mayor, said that he trusted that before the Lord Mayor's term of office expired a happier day would break for Ireland.

The Lord Mayor, responding, said that at present the situation seemed to be desperate, and they could only hope and pray that there would soon be an improvement. (Applause.)

THE MURDER OF DISTRICT INSPECTOR SWANZY.

DEATH SENTENCE COMMUTED.

John Leonard, the taxi-cab driver, at present in Belfast Jail, after being found guilty by Courtmartial in connection with the murder of District Inspector Swanzy at Lisburn last August, has been informed that the sentence of death passed upon him has been commuted to penal servitude for life.

KNOCKLONG MURDER CHARGE.

EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENCE.

The trial was continued yesterday by Field General Courtmartial in the City Hall, Dublin, of Patrick Maher and Edward Foley, both of the neighbourhood of Knocklong, Co. Limerick, charged with the murder of Sergeant Wallace, R.I.C., at Knocklong station on May 13th.

The first witness for the defence said that he was a member of the police escort travelling from Thurles to Knocklong on the day in question, and was severely injured, having been thrown through the carriage window on the rails by the raiders. As the train was approaching Knocklong station he saw a man standing in the corridor opposite the apartment in which witness and others were seated. When the crowd entered the apartment, witness's rifle was taken from him and he was thrown through the carriage window.

Replying to counsel for the prosecution he said that he saw only one man in the corridor. The next thing he heard was the banging of doors, and five or six men rushed into the compartment firing shots.

Michael Murphy, who was, on the application for the defence, put back for separate trial on the same charge, was now examined for the defence. He stated that he had served in the Irish Guards. He remembered the evening in question. He went to Knocklong between 7 and 8 o'clock. He was speaking to a man on the platform when the train from Dublin came in on the opposite side. Witness heard a shot ring out from the direction of the engine. He knew it was a rifle shot. Just then the carriage doors opened, people began to jump out, and a number of other shots were afterwards fired. On running in the direction of the engine he saw a man on the rails with a rifle in his hand. There were four or five other men running in front of the man with the rifle. Witness got through a carriage, and on to the other platform as the man with the rifle was about to fire again. That man was a policeman. He started to fire again, and witness thought the man was mad. On the platform he met a soldier, who was coming from the direction of the engine, and witness said to him: "What made the man go mad?" Witness also said: "Give me a rifle and I will put him out of action." At that moment a young lady put her head out of the carriage window and cried out. Witness asked her what was up, and she said there was a man shot in the carriage. Witness went into the carriage to the compartment where the man was. Witness saw him, and he looked as if he had slipped off the seat. He knelt down beside him for a moment, and opened his jacket and shirt, put his hand to his heart to see if there was any life in him, but he found he was dead. He tried to lift him on to the seat, but was unable, and just then a man entered the compartment. Witness asked him to give him a hand to put the man on the seat, but he only looked at him and made no answer. Witness asked him a second time, and he replied: "That is all right; I am a soldier." They both put the man on the seat, and as they did his pistol fell out. Witness picked it up and handed it to the policeman. At that time Sergeant Wallace was brought into the compartment by two civilians, and at the moment somebody said that the train was going to start. When witness got to the door a man ran up, and witness asked him where he was going to. He said that he was going to Cork, and looked as if he was very frightened, and crying. Witness opened the door for him and let him in. Continuing, witness said that he went home shortly afterwards, and a couple of days later he made a statement to the police. From the time witness was arrested—September 24th—until 22nd October he had not been shaved. When they were paraded for the purpose of identification with other men some of the latter were shaved.

In cross-examination, witness said he knew Maher for seven or eight years, but had merely been in the habit of bidding him good evening. He knew Foley for five or six years.

The Court adjourned until this morning.

THOUGHTS AND THEORIES.

pieced in all the missing bits of the jigsaw puzzle to everybody's satisfaction, so that now you may be quite positive that any life-sized star is an arm or a tail or an eye. Trying to find the rest of the creature is rather a jolly game, a sort of reversed version of "pinning the eye on the donkey." But you need the chart, partly because the foolish stars never stay in the same place from one night to the next, and partly because astronomical zoological anatomy moves along strictly vorticist lines. I found all this very interesting, and unless some horrid man of science chokes me off I shall pursue the study, always provided that the night is fine. Meanwhile I have learned to say, "How bright Beteltrix and Bellageuse are to-night!" as if I had known them for years and years.

HINTERLANDS.

In the bad old days of pre-war diplomacy the joy of the ambitious militarist and the bane of the pacific diplomatist was the Sphere of Influence. In those days the arrogant Teuton made his one and only attractive contribution to the international vocabulary. One began to hear the word "hinterland" in common use, and it had a pleasant tang, a suggestion of unexplored jungles, remote mountain ranges, vast deserts untrodden of human foot. The journalists took to the idea kindly. The novelists hugged it to their bosoms. So long as there was a hinterland left somewhere thither the hero could repair and do his darnedest to the satisfaction of all concerned.

In those days every Sphere of Influence included one or more hinterlands. Often it was all hinterland, and the aggressive diplomatist who wanted to start something had only to send a punitive force or an ethnological survey or an orchid collector with an offensive manner into the hinterland. There the agent provocateur would barge into a mission or party of big game-hunters or another punitive expedition from the other side of the hinterland—the other fellow's Sphere of Influence—and the sabre-rattling and note-passing would begin at once. If the butterfly-hunters and geological surveys were not available, one could always send police, because the wily native, having committed unspeakable crimes in one Sphere of Influence, invariably migrated, to a nicely calculated depth of one rifle shot and a half, into the other Sphere of Influence and said provocatively, "Yah! You can't catch me now!" This was more than flesh and blood could stand, and the outraged police would take after the miscreant, all unwittingly violating the sacred border-line, and the international fat would immediately be in the fire.

This sort of thing kept well-meaning statesmen awake at nights, but it was jam to the novelist and very attractive to the gentlemen adventurers of the day, who liked their explorations and shootings to be flavoured with a dash of unofficial penetration, peaceful or otherwise. But, alas! the war came along and spoiled it all. The Sphere of Influence is dead, or nearly so, and in its place we have dull, much talked about, carefully scrutinised, and red-taped substitutes called "Mandates." I am not prepared to say that, when the aggressive diplomat's turn comes to bat, a Mandate cannot be made to provide the ingredients of a life-sized row. To undertake a Mandate, in fact, looks to me rather like growing an extra-sized bunion on one's toe in order to be able to slap the people who tread on it. The objection to the Mandate business is that it is simply the Sphere of Influence with all the romance knocked out of it.

That is because Mandates have no hinterland. If the ethnological survey that is surveying a Mandate with a couple of machine-guns runs into another mandatory's private preserve, there is nothing to be done except to apologise, swap quinine cocktails, and depart. In the old days you slugged the other fellow and he slugged back, and the survivor cabled to the Secretary for Foreign Affairs:—"Have occupied the Rumti Foozle country from the Pongo River to 35.7 north in the name of His Majesty. What are you going to do about it?" The harassed Secretary had to push round to the Foreign Ambassador's and bluff it out in the best way he could. Now that sort of thing could not happen. If the ethnological survey started knocking the Zoological Commission about, the latter would telegraph to the League of Nations, which would proceed, more in sorrow than in anger, to fine the State which had sent out the ethnological expedition twenty million paper marks.

Something like twenty-seven nations were finally involved in the Great War, excluding benevolent neutrals, neutral benevolents, and nations too proud to borrow the money to fight. Fortunately, they were not all fighting at the same time or in the same way or with the same idea. I say "fortunately," because it means that there is still a hinterland or two hidden away in the middle distance that the League of Nations has not been able to mandamus, or whatever the process of handing out a Mandate is called. The aggressive statesman has still a loophole or two left. The adventurous novelist is circumscribed, but not entirely hamstrung. There is such a hinterland at the top-end of Burmah, where the river Irrawaddy flows and the mountains of Mourne, which is the Kachin for Tibet, look down to the sea. To the West stretch Assam, Bhutan, and India's coral strand. To the North is Tibet, where the yaks come from. To the East looms the menacing bulk of China. In the middle are a lot of mountains, several large rivers, and a wide and fertile valley, called Khamti. I have great hopes of the place, and, if I were going to write a novel, that is the spot to which I should send my hero. There is simply bound to be a scrap there soon, for everyone covets the fertile valley except the inhabitants, who sagaciously confine themselves to coveting the ethnological survey's boots and condensed milk.

Just at present the British Government, with a foresight which it seldom displays in such matters, may claim to have got there first. At any rate, it has a post there, and collects a few taxes—enough to pay for the boots and condensed milk that have to be written off the imprest account. But that is nothing serious. China has an eye on that valley, which has a rather rich opium harvest, and sends across about two ethnographical surveys a week. Sometimes they happen along from Tibet; sometimes they just drift in from Sze-Chuen or Yun-nan, across the five impassable mountain ranges and through the jungle-some valleys of the Mekong, the Salween, the Irrawaddy, and their nineteen confluent and affluent tributaries. In this game of international bluff and duplicity the Chinese have a great advantage—the leeches do not like the taste of them. Also their skins are impervious to water and they can fall into a state of selfless, but sinister, contemplation at a moment's notice.

Of course, one day the Yellow Peril will move, if not already annihilated by the United States Navy, and then the Burmese Hinterland will be the cynosure of every eye, the great gateway from the teeming East to the effete West, the Thermopylæ of Caucasian civilisation. That is when I want to be around—not on the spot itself, because I have a feeling that the leeches would love me, but at some convenient headquarters on the Indian Ocean where the Kursaal had been placed at the disposal of the foreign correspondents. I have never felt that Armageddon could be properly fought out in a well-tilled champain, with railway lines running across it and an estaminet ready to hand for the Brigade Headquarters to mess in. But a battle fought over those vast mountain ranges, through the steep, impenetrable, jungle-clad valleys, over the eternal snows and down the torrent-hewn gorges, and among all those leeches—that would be an Armageddon well worthy of the name.

SPRING.

The sun is up and the wind is up,
And March is on the wold.
The jolly lambs are skipping about,
And the jolly blackbirds quarrel and shout,
Crying, "Out with the winter! Out! out! out!
And in with the yellow and gold
Of the primrose under the coppiced hill
And the flaming crown of the daffodil."

ST. THOMAS'S CHURCH.

Yesterday a sale of work in connection with St. Thomas's Parish was opened in the Parochial Hall, Marlborough street, Dublin. The object of the sale is to pay off a debt outstanding against the parish for the painting, renovation, and repairing of the church. The contract for this work involved an expenditure of £400, of which £250 has already been received, leaving a debit balance of £150. This figure will, before the undertaking is finally settled, probably be increased by about £100, so that in reality the amount to be realised is £250. The ladies who promoted the sale are hopeful that it will raise a substantial sum, but donations from friends will still be needed, and they are earnestly invited.

The sale was opened in the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Ormsby Hamilton by Rev. J. Crawford Irwin, B.D. There are several stalls laden with country produce, pound and sample stall, needlework, etc., the gifts of the parishioners. In connection with the sale there were interesting half-hour concerts and competitions of various kinds. During the afternoon there was a representative attendance of the parishioners and their friends, and the stalls received satisfactory patronage.

The Sale will be continued to-day, and the opening ceremony will be performed at three o'clock by Mrs. Boydell. The ladies presiding at the stalls are:—Mrs. Wilson, Iona Park, Glasnevin; Mrs. Purdon, Nottingham street, North Strand; Mrs. Green, Great Charles street; Mrs. Duggan, St. Lawrence road, Clontarf. These ladies have each a number of energetic assistants.

PARLIAMENT.

THE CIVIL SERVICE BONUS.

REPARATION BILL READ A THIRD TIME.

The House of Commons had a prolonged sitting on Thursday, and the House did not rise until 3.15 yesterday morning.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES.

The Speaker took the chair at noon yesterday, and the House went into Committee of Supply on Supplementary Estimates.

Mr. Baldwin presented a supplementary estimate for £800,000 to meet the charges for war bonus, etc., to civil servants. He explained that £620,000 of the amount was in respect of increases to temporary staffs, based on the war bonus from 1st March, 1920. The number of employés involved was about 110,000, which was 18,000 less than would have been included twelve months ago. He hoped that a further decrease might be effected during the ensuing year, but some time must elapse before the temporary staff ceased to be a part of the machinery of the Civil Service. As to the £180,000 for increased war bonus to the permanent staff, he admitted that, while last year the war bonus lagged behind the rise in the cost of living, the tendency was in the reverse direction this year, but he pointed out that, if the fall in prices continued, the reduction would be very substantial when the next revision took place in the autumn. By far the greater amount of the war bonus would go to people in receipt of less than £300 or £400 a year, among the quarter of a million employés affected.

Sir H. Craik moved a reduction in the vote by £100,000, as a protest against the granting of war bonus to civil servants receiving high salaries.

The amendment for the reduction of the vote was rejected by 185 votes to 39, and the vote was agreed to.

GERMAN REPARATION BILL.

The German Reparation (Recovery) Bill was considered on report.

Mr. Hogge moved an amendment to Clause 1, providing that no payment should be made to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise in respect of the 50 p.c. of the purchase price of German goods until legislation to the same effect had been passed by the Legislatures of France, Italy, and Belgium. He wished to know whether the money collected in this country would be put into a pool into which France, Italy, and Belgium would be equally entitled to dip their hands.

Mr. Chamberlain explained that under the bill the receipts would go into a special account at the Bank of England, and be applied to the payment of our own claim to reparation in any one year. If there was a surplus its disposal would remain over for discussion among the Allies. He was opposed to the insertion of specific words which would tie our hands in face of an infinite variety of contingencies which might arise. He added that up to the present the only reply which the Government had received from the Allies as to their attitude on this matter had come from Portugal, who had expressed their intention of enforcing a similar policy to ours. He thought that the time had been too short to expect replies from the other Powers, but, even if we stood alone, he thought that our market was of such importance to Germany that the bill would prove an effective instrument for exacting satisfaction of our demand.

The amendment was defeated by 204 to 39. Other amendments were moved and rejected, and the report stage concluded.

THIRD READING.

On the order for the third reading of the bill, Mr. Clynes moved—"That, whilst desirous of securing just reparation from Germany, this House cannot assent to legislation of a character which does not represent a common policy on the part of the Allies, which would only result in injury to British trade and an increase in the volume of unemployment, and which has been introduced before sufficient effort has been made to secure a settlement by agreement or with the aid of the League of Nations or other impartial tribunal, to ascertain the capacity of Germany to pay." He said that this was not a bill to make the Germans pay, but a bill which in its working and effects would make the British public pay the debts of Germany.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S VIEW.

The Attorney-General (Sir G. Hewart) said that nothing would be more wrong than to assume that negotiations with Germany were at an end. The Allies were ready and willing that they should proceed, and if Germany was prepared to make a reasonable offer nobody was preventing that offer being made. On the question whether technically the proceedings of the Allies were justified under the Treaty of Versailles, he maintained with confidence that the coercive measures which were being taken were abundantly justified under the Treaty.

The amendment was rejected by 132 to 15, and the bill was read a third time.

ARMY AND AIR FORCE BILL.

The Army and Air Force Annual Bill was brought in and read a first time.

The House rose at 7.40.

TRIBUTE TO SIR JAMES CRAIG.

On the report of Supply, Sir Donald Maclean and Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy expressed their appreciation of the work done by Sir James Craig as Secretary to the Admiralty and their good wishes for his success in the new work which he was about to undertake as Prime Minister of Ulster. (Cheers.)

Sir James Craig replied that he felt this kind reference very deeply. It was not the time to suitably express his thanks to all members of the House for their kindness and generosity to him in somewhat difficult times. It had been one of the most pleasing periods of his life and during his political career when he had the honour of being connected with the British Admiralty.

FORMAL SITTING OF THE LORDS.

The House of Lords held a formal sitting at 7.45 in order to receive from the Commons the Coal Decontrol Bill and the German Reparation (Recovery) Bill, and read them a first time. This having been done, the House adjourned at 7.47.

FUNERAL OF MR. PERCY LA TOUCHE.

"A GREAT GENTLEMAN."

CANON HANNAY'S TRIBUTE.

The remains of Mr. Percy La Touche, D.L., of Harristown, Co. Kildare, who died on the 13th inst., in his 75th year, were laid to rest in the family vault in the demesne, close to Carnalway Parish Church, yesterday, in the presence of a large number of people. The attendance at the funeral was very representative, and the nobility and the peasantry alike paid a tribute to the late Mr. La Touche, who was universally popular. The coffin, covered with many wreaths, was removed from Harristown House a few minutes past noon, and at the entrance to Carnalway Parish Church was received by the Rector of the parish, Rev. Canon Hannay, M.A., T.C.D., who conducted the Service in the church.

CANON HANNAY

The Rev. Canon Hannay, in his references to the late Mr. Percy La Touche, said that in the 15th Psalm the question was asked: "Lord, who shall dwell in Thy Tabernacle, or who shall rest upon Thy holy hill?" and the answer was: "He that walketh uprightly and speaketh the truth in his heart. He that backbiteth not with his tongue nor doeth evil to his neighbour, in whose eyes a vile person is contemned. He that sweareth to his neighbour and disappointeth him not though it were to his own hindrance. He that putteth not his money to usury, nor taketh reward against the innocent. Whoso doeth these things ——." "The name that we give to such a man rises at once to our lips," said Canon Hannay. The 15th Psalm is the description of a great gentleman. Every sentence of that eulogy is true of him whose memory we honour to-day. He walked uprightly and spoke the truth and slandered no man. In his eyes vile persons were despised. He kept his promises. He was not greedy of gain. He took no bribes. Therefore, we say of him, he was a great gentleman. He served his country, and the service he rendered was of great worth. Some of you who are here to-day know better than I do that one important part of our national life owed much to him. It was he, more than any other man of our time, who made and kept sport in this country clean and straight. The service he gave to his country in the control of sport and the service he gave in many other ways were given without expectation of reward. He neither sought nor took gain of money. He did not want, nor did any give him, titles of honour. Honour, without a tinsel of it, was enough for him. He did not desire the praise of shouting crowds, nor did he fear the anger of any mob. Honour was more to him than popularity, nor would he let honour go because he feared. A little while before his death, when he lay sick in Harristown, he sent me one day six lines from a Latin poet, scribbled in pencil on a scrap of paper, asking me to tell him where the whole poem was. Here are the lines:—

> Justum et tenacem propositi virum
> Non civium ardor prava iubentium,
> Non vultus instantis tyranni
> Mente quatit solida
> . . . .
> Si fractus illabatur orbis,
> Impavidum ferient ruinae.

May I translate for you? "Behold the upright man of steadfast will. Neither the angry hysterics of the crowd, nor yet the threatening face of tyranny, can force that man into mean, cowardly ways, or change his mind. Though all our social order totter to destruction the ruins will bury him, at least, unterrified." When Percy La Touche wrote down those lines he wrote his own epitaph. Or rather he wrote the epitaph of his public life.

There was another side of his life, of which the world of sport, the world of politics, and the greater world outside them both knew less than we know here. They knew the man of honour. We also knew the kind and gentle friend. He so lived here among his own people that we loved him. Of all of us this is true: of old men who were young when he was young, of younger men who grew up when he was already old, of children with whom he liked to play. There is a curious old French epigram which says—"When we come into this world we cry, but those who stand around have smiles on their faces. A man should so live that when he leaves the world the smile may be upon his face, the tears in the eyes of those who stand around." He did so live. He won the right to meet the Unseen with a smile. The tears are in our eyes, or in our hearts.

There is one thing more I want to say. Six months ago we laid to rest all that was mortal of the lady who had been his wife for more than fifty years. Since that day the joy of life left him. The old pleasures and old interests failed. In the end he did not greatly wish to live. Of this part of his life, this great enduring love, we have no right to speak. Here we stand upon most holy ground, but this we know, that love like this redeems the life of man and lifts it far above the sordid and the common-place.

So we leave him, to sleep his sleep until the great awakening. So we leave the body, the perishable part of him. For we do not bury him. The man of honour and of loving heart does not die and the earth does not cover him. He ascends to the hill of the Lord. He goes up into the holy place.

THE LA TOUCHES OF HARRISTOWN.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

The death of Mr. Percy La Touche, of Harristown, Co. Kildare, so well known in social and sporting circles throughout the United Kingdom, removes from among us the last of the La Touches of Harristown. Of them Mr. Lecky writes that in the Irish Parliament of the Union "no less than five members of the name sat together in the Irish House of Commons, and the family may claim what is in truth the highest honour of which an Irish family can boast—that during many successive Governments and in a period of the most lavish corruption it possessed great Parliamentary influence, and yet passed through life untitled and unstained." Harristown, the residence of the La Touche family, one of the most magnificent mansions in Ireland, was some years ago burned to the ground, and on its site has been built a house quite as splendid, but, of course, bereft of the historic associations of its predecessor.

Old Harristown—the house itself—was a Parliamentary nomination borough, whose "patron," its owner, returned two members to the Irish House of Commons. The heads of the La Touche family, however, preferred to sit as members for the County of Kildare, and to be returned by a semblance at least of popular election than to be members for Harristown, a position to which they appointed their nominees. The La Touche family acquired their wealth—they came to Ireland as Huguenot refugees—by the establishment of La Touche's Bank, the first and the most successful private bank in Ireland. The building in which the offices of the bank were situate still remains in the embrace of Dublin Castle.

In April, 1778, when the poverty of the Irish Government, in the Viceroyalty of Lord Buckingham, was so great that it was unable to discharge the primary duty of securing the country from invasion, and all salaries were suspended, it was found necessary to borrow £20,000 from La Touche's Bank. In the following month, however, as Lord Buckingham informed the British Cabinet in a letter still extant, the Irish Government applied to La Touche's Bank for yet another loan, and received a reply which was, as a polite refusal, the realisation of the ideal. The prudent bankers said that "it was not in their power, though very much in their inclination." At a later date, however, when in Lord Camden's Viceroyalty, in 1797, an invasion of Ireland by France seemed imminent, the grateful Lord Lieutenant wrote to the English Cabinet that "Mr. John La Touche (of Harristown), who was a private on his son's corps (of tenants which was raised to protect the country), rode twenty-five miles in one of the severest nights with an express." It was a La Touche who made one of the most vehement protests in the Irish House of Commons against the exemption of the great absentee land proprietors from all taxation for Irish purposes. It was a La Touche also who moved resolutions, unanimously carried, at a large and thoroughly representative meeting of the bankers and merchants of all religious opinions in Dublin, in December, 1798, in which the contemplated destruction of the Irish Parliament was dismissed in emphatic terms.

Mr. Percy La Touche did not come into possession of Harristown till he had almost reached old age—his father, Mr. John La Touche, on whose death he succeeded to the property, died in 1904 on his ninetieth birthday. He set, like his son, a splendid example in his relations with his tenants, and in the discharge of the duties of his high position of an Irish gentleman in the best and truest sense of the term. Mr. Percy La Touche has been laid to rest in the family private burial ground in a beautiful and secluded corner of the demesne of Harristown. In that small mausoleum sleeps, with other members of his family, his sister, Rose Lucy La Touche, who died in early life, and was one of the most beautiful and gifted beings of her generation.

The Joy of Giving

"Happiness is a perfume you cannot sprinkle on others without getting a few drops yourself." You cannot give time, service, or money in a worthy cause without feeling better for the giving.

If any of the poor sufferers in the Adelaide Hospital could personally plead with you could you refuse? Can you refuse those who plead for them? Who is there cannot afford one half-crown? Who would not sacrifice some little personal luxury in the cause of suffering humanity?

The greatest happiness comes from giving more than you can spare: that may be much or little, but it is all equally acceptable. A little help from a lot of people will settle our difficulties. Remember the widow's mite.

WATER-COLOUR SOCIETY OF IRELAND.

The Water Colour Society of Ireland, which is at present holding its sixty-ninth exhibition, has, in spite of the difficulties of the times, kept up its standard of painting. There are many delightful pictures done by artists whose names have long been associated with the society, as well as by several new members, exhibiting this year for the first time under the auspices of the Water Colour Society of Ireland. On Tuesday next the Art Union Drawing will take place in the Hall, 35 Dawson street, Dublin, and holders of tickets will have a chance of drawing a winning number, which will entitle them to select one or more of the drawings hung in the exhibition.

SUMMER-TIME.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—"Pendulum" is splitting hairs and talking nonsense. Perhaps, he would like to call me ignorant and superstitious when I say that the unlettered peasant who speaks of "God's time" is talking both science and common-sense. Sun-time is Nature's time, and "God's time" is only the simple peasant's way of saying so. I would rather have his attitude than that of the townsman, usually profoundly ignorant of Nature, who has so little moral fibre that he cannot get up an hour earlier without making his clock tell a lie.

Sun-time never differs from local clock-time by twenty minutes. The maximum is sixteen minutes in November and fourteen minutes in February—times of year when it does not matter, as vegetation is dormant, and nothing is doing on the land except ploughing or sowing. The only reason for these differences is that we cannot make a clock keep sun-time. If we could, we would. To argue that because we cannot avoid a difference of a few minutes, therefore one-and-a-half to two hours difference is tolerable is sheer nonsense.

The Act has caused an amount of irritation quite out of proportion to any benefit that it does to anyone, and will continue to cause irritation and resentment till it is scrapped. It is particularly irritant in Ireland, where the dislocation of natural time is from 1 hr. 25 min. to 1 hr. 45 min.—a truly serious matter to the agriculturist, and not to him only. I am much inclined to agree with "Old Nationalist" as to the minor Acts of Parliament as applied to Ireland. The usual history of a minor Act of Parliament in this country is as follows:—For six months it is vigorously enforced, to the annoyance of everybody, and not least of the police, who have to look after it. After that the R.I.C. get tired of it, and begin to wink at violations of it. Finally, it dies a natural death, and everybody forgets all about it. This is precisely the history of the Dog-collars Act of a few years ago, and of not a few others that might be mentioned. The police had something better to do than chasing every dog they saw, to make sure that he had his owner's name and address on his collar. Unfortunately, "Summer-time" is not so easy to ignore, but it is ignored over a large part of the country. Sinn Fein would scrap it to-morrow, and that is the one item in their programme that has my hearty support.—Yours, etc.,

W. F. A. ELLISON,
Director, Armagh Observatory.

NEW ANIMALS IN THE DUBLIN "ZOO."

Several interesting additions have, within the past week, been made to the list of animals inhabiting the Dublin "Zoo." One of the new-comers, a white-crowned mangabey, has made himself so thoroughly at home in his compartment of the Monkey-house as to have taken quite under his protection the senior inhabitant —a sooty mangabey—to whom he had been allotted as a companion. The mangabeys are African apes, hailing chiefly from the western part of the Dark Continent.

But perhaps a still more interesting addition comes from South America. The curious family of the armadilloes has for many years (since the death of a six-banded armadillo in 1909) been represented in the Gardens by only one species, the hairy armadillo, of which the present representative, given in 1909 by Sir Charles Ball, is a remarkably healthy and most active specimen. A second species has now been added, the peba armadillo, or tatouhou, which, when full-grown, is stated to be the largest of its remarkable family. In parts of the South American range—which extends from Guiana to Paraguay—the peba is kept as a pet, and the Rev. J. G. Wood relates how a friend of his was so much disturbed at night by the noise that his tame armadillo made in his bedroom that he struck a light, to find that it had been dragging a number of heavy boxes across the room, and so piling them together as to build itself a secure den, into which it could retire whenever it sought seclusion. One cannot but regret that the armadillo's habits are chiefly nocturnal.

DUBLIN SESSIONS OPENED.

CRIME IN CITY AND COUNTY.

Yesterday, in Green street Courthouse, the Recorder of Dublin opened the criminal business of the Easter Sessions for Dublin County.

Addressing the City Grand Jury, which included several women, his lordship said: "May I venture on a mere passing reference to the condition of our city? I do not desire to discuss the obvious, nor deal in detail with the many foul stains on the fair fame of our capital, and the almost daily tragedies in our midst. We can only hope and pray that the light of order and security may soon break through the dark clouds, which so long have menaced our city, with, in the near future, the resulting peace and prosperity which we all so earnestly desire."

CRIME IN THE COUNTY.

Addressing the Grand Jury for the County, which also included women, his lordship said:—On the present conditions of your county I feel no useful purpose is achieved by the demonstration of the obvious. You, too, well know and appreciate its state; the old and unique freedom from serious crime no longer prevails. We can only pray and hope that a wave of sanity may pass over it, and submerge evil and the spirit of evil, with the resulting resumption of its former pre-eminence in peace, order, and security.

Mr. W. Corrigan, K.C. (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor), prosecuted in the several cases.

LARCENY CHARGES.

Patrick Cunningham pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing shirts and collars from the establishment of Messrs. Frewen and Co., 48 Parnell street. The prisoner, it appeared, had been discharged from the Army with a good character. He had been imprisoned for ten months in Germany.

A three months' sentence was imposed.

CHARGE OF THEFT.

Francis Ramsay, a soldier, pleaded not guilty of the larceny, on the 5th December, of a motor coat and other property, belonging to His Honour Judge Brown, from his residence in Blackrock.

The evidence was that the coat had been missing for some time, and had been pawned in an office in Blackrock by the prisoner, who was in mufti at the time. The pawnbroker's assistant, with whom the coat was pawned, assured his Lordship that he had no doubt as to the man's identity.

The jury disagreed.

Mr. Corrigan, K.C. (who prosecuted) said that it would be impossible to carry on business if that sort of thing went on. They needed more county jurors. The expense of bringing cases was for the benefit of the citizens generally.

His Lordship said that the fact that the jury could not agree in that case was most discreditable. For the present he would discharge the jury, but their attendance next day would be required, as well as other county jurors. The panel would be called on £5 fines.

The same prisoner was also charged before a new jury with having stolen a clock from Blackrock College.

The President of the College and a member of the community gave evidence that the prisoner called to get certain papers filled up. They gave him 2s. 6d. to get rid of him.

The accused was found guilty and put back for sentence.

A BIGAMOUS MARRIAGE.

Reginald Blake, alias du Bois, charged with having committed bigamy, was convicted, and put back for sentence. The evidence showed that prisoner was married on 29th May, 1919, to Nellie Bainhain at Nantwich Registry Office, and on 30th September last he went through a ceremony of marriage in Rathmines Roman Catholic Church with Ellen Devoy, his wife being alive.

When arrested and asked why he contracted a bigamous marriage, prisoner said that he was driven to it by the conduct of his wife.

The jury's finding contained a recommendation to mercy.

AN EXCURSION TO HOLYHEAD.

The London and North-Western Railway Company announces in our advertisement columns to-day that a special one-day excursion to Holyhead at cheap fares has been arranged for Easter Monday. This is the first time that an excursion has been run by the mail steamers from Kingstown. In addition to the pleasure to be derived from a trip on the well-appointed mail steamers, visitors to Holyhead will find much to interest and amuse them. There are good hotel facilities there, an 18-hole golf course and safe boating, besides many spots of interest. The sea passage is two and three-quarter hours. It is to be hoped that the public will appreciate the enterprise shown by the company.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

VICTORY BONDS GOOD. GUINNESS BUSY. COATS STRONG. DUNLOP UNDER BEST. CITY STEAM STILL FIRM.

There were numerous elements making for irregularity in price movements on 'Change yesterday. Business was, on the whole, poor, and many of the markings were for odd or exceptional lots. The Funds varied lightly, but Victory Bonds, not recently quoted, show a big advance on last price here. Banks were irregular. Guinness Ord. were largely supported at last price. City Steam shows no quotable change. The appeal in the "Petition of Right" is concluded, and judgment will be delivered on 22nd inst. Grand Canal offered. Marconis marked time, but American Marconis were still weak. Home Rails show a few changes that call for no special reference. Dublin Trams fell under 6. Parent Tyres were very firm again, but Dunlop Rubbers eased a little. Pim Bros. Ord. fell to par. The feature in Textiles was the sharp rise in Coats Ord. shares. Other Textiles were dull. Some of these shares present bargains at the reduced levels reached. Mexican Eagle Oils fell further, but Shells were steady. Tobacco shares were the turn lower.

The Funds were dealt in to some extent. Victory Bonds rose 2⅜ to 78, War Loan 4½ p.c. ⅛ to 78⅛, and Irish Land 3 p.c. ⅜ to 51½. War Loan 5 p.c. repeated 87, and ditto by deed quoted 86⅞. Consols again marked 47⅞.

Banks were mostly quiet. Nationals rose 3/16 to 15½, but Munster and Leinster fell 1/16 to 5½. Bank Stock at 185 shows no change.

In Breweries, Guinness Ord. repeated 35, the Pref. 9 7/16, and Castlebellingham Pref. 5.

City of Dublin Steam closed still 2½ over last business done level at 120 to 125 nominally. Grand Canal Ord. fell 1/16 to 2 15/16.

In Marconis, the Ord. repeated 38s. Radio Common quoted 7s. 9d., and the Pref. 9s. 11d.

The changes in Home Rails include a rise of ½ to 51 in Great Northern, and a fall of 1 to 48 in Great Southern and Western Guaranteed. Others show no change, but the best bid for Great Northern Pref. was 49, or 1 under last price. West Carbery Baronial rose 6d. to 10s. 6d.

In Trams, Dublin United Ord fell ⅛ to 5⅞.

Dunlops were fairly busy. Dunlop Rubber Ord. closed 3d. better at 12s. 6d., 12s. 4½d., and the New Ord. at 12s. 3d., after touching 13s. in London and Birmingham the previous day. Parent Tyre Ord. repeated 14s. 10½d., and the Def. rose 2s. 9d. to 38s., thus materialising the recent further rally in nominal price. The Debs. were not quoted.

In Drapery Shares, Pim Bros. Ord. fell ¼ to 5.

Among Manufacturing Shares, Coats rose 2s. to 47s. 6d. Dyers fetched 34s., Cottons 30s. 3d., and Spinners left off wanted at 35s.

In Trading, etc., Thom Pref. fell 1s. 11d. to 37s. Maguire and Gatchell Pref. closed easier at 2¾ to 3. Burke Ord. again realised 60s.

Imperial Tobacco fell 3d. to 47s. 9d., Mexican Eagle Oil 1/16 to 5⅞, and the Fractional Certificates quoted 55s. Shells were unaltered at 5 5/16.

SUBDUED STOCKS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The Stock markets wound up the week in sombre fashion. There was quite a marked falling off in business, and in the gilt-edged group specialities which have recently enjoyed the biggest rise showed a further inclination to be reactionary. Corporation Stocks, on the other hand, advanced in conspicuous style, and where alterations in price occurred they were on the up grade. Home Rails exhibited a somewhat flat tendency, but North Country support of Grand Trunks provided a good feature. Mr. Bonar Law's resignation, which was not known on the previous day before closing hours, was the subject of sympathetic reference throughout the House. The Grand National, ever a popular event with the Stock Exchange, became a prominent topic of interest after the morning orders had been executed, and members filled up their spare time in the exhilarating occupation of organising sweeps on the blue riband of the 'chase.

LONDON STOCKS DULL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange yesterday it seemed as though more attention was given to the retirement of Mr. Bonar Law and the running of the Grand National than to business. There was an almost entire absence of outstanding feature, and in places irregularity was shown. Home Rails, however, remained firm, while Oil Shares hardened slightly. The hesitation which developed in the gilt-edged group on Thursday afternoon was again noticeable, and, although there was no reaction, the tone was inclined to dulness. The War Loan opened 86 9/16, but reacted to 86 7/16. Consols were fairly steady at 48, but Funding Loan fell to 71⅝, and Victory Bonds were 77⅞. The Sudan Loan was 90½ for the fully paid and 1⅞ discount for the scrip, while the Commonwealth fully paid was 94¼ and the scrip ⅞ discount.

Among Foreign Government Securities, Argentine Bonds are prominently strong, several descriptions being higher. The 1886 at 93 and the Fours at 55½ were in the forefront. A partial recovery was shown in the French Loans, the Fours rallying to 33, but the 5 p.c. were unchanged. Brazilian Funding of 1914 were a point higher at 55. Chilians were better; the Fives of 1911 at 65 and Buenos Ayres 4½ p.c. were up to 81½.

Home Rails were a little undecided, but remained fairly firm. There was a demand for the Pref. Stocks of some Home Rails, Brighton, for instance, rising to 62. Midlands were 45 after being higher, Great Western were firm at 69, North-Eastern at 73 were better. North-Western were ½ higher at 69½ x.d. Brighton Def. were up to 40. Furness gave way to 19. The prior charge Stocks were good and difficult to buy.

"Campaes" fell a point to 144. A disposition was shown to put Grand Trunks higher. Guaranteed rose to 62½, while First and Second Pref. were both up at 44½ and 33½, respectively; the Thirds rose to 14 and Ord. to 5. Mexicans continued to mark time, but among Argentines, Pacific advanced to 42, and others of the group were without material change. Havanas were again a good spot at 70, but "Leos" were scarcely maintained at 23.

BUSINESS FALLS AWAY IN INDUSTRIALS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

There was a distinct break in the continuity of business in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday, becalmed conditions prevailing in almost all departments, and few outstanding changes being observed. Even in the Brewery list, in which interest lately has resulted in a number of increased values, transactions were on a negligible scale, while the recent strength of Lloyd's in the Banking section was superseded by an easier tendency. Among the Miscellaneous descriptions, Dunlops were the only cheerful feature, with the Debentures also hardening further on persistent support. The gloomy forebodings which were entertained a little while ago regarding Vickers Third Cumulative 5 per Cent. Tax Free Preference Shares appeared to have given way to slightly more cheerful anticipations. Following the passing of the final Ordinary dividend in respect of last year, rumours that the company might have to raise additional working capital, coupled with the unsettled conditions in the industry, gave rise to the idea that the passing of the dividend on the Third Preference, was thus foreshadowed. The shares have, however, been changing hands recently at successively higher levels, yesterday's quotations showing a further gain of 9d. at 14s. 3d. Elsewhere among Iron and Steels, Dorman Long hardened to 17s. 9d., and Brunner Mond put on 6d. to 27s. Palmer's Shipbuilding, however, eased to 11s. Imperial Continental Gas finished the week at 164½, to which they advanced from 156½, or just a fraction below the adjusted quotation, subsequently to the recent return of £60 of the capital stock. Courtaulds were a firm feature, with a slight improvement on balance to 29s. 6d., and elsewhere among Textiles, Coats Ordinary rose ⅛ to 2¾ ex dividend. Amalgamated Cottons, at 13s. 6d., were unchanged, and British Cellulose were maintained at 5s. Maypoles were a shade harder at 9s. 4½d., and Liptons kept the price at 21s. Interest in Breweries showed a falling off, though quotations exhibited steadiness, while among Banks, Lloyd's were not so good at 46s. 9d., although L.C.W. and Parrs were marked up ⅛ to 13⅛. In the Land group, Pekin lacked support at 13s. 6d., and in the Canadian-American group Brazilian Traction were depressed to 37. A fresh advance in Dunlops to 12s. 9d. left the shares 1s. 4½d. up on the week on balance, while the Debentures were also in renewed request up to 96¾, but elsewhere among Miscellaneous Trading descriptions Cement issues reacted, Associated losing 6d. at 21s., and British Portlands declining to 25s. Lever Brothers' 8 per cent. Preference were not so good at 15s. 6d., though the 7 per cent. kept the price at 15s., while in the Motor group, Rolls Royce showed an easier tendency at 1¼. A small demand for the leading Tobacco descriptions resulted in harder quotations at one time, but B.A.T., at 3 5/16 ex dividend, and Imperials, at 47s. 6d., were both unchanged on balance. The Wireless section was off colour, with Marconis and the Preference 1/16 easier at 1 13/16.

MINING MARKET IDLE.

UNDERTONE REMAINS STEADY.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Nothing happened to stimulate activity in the speculative departments of the "House" yesterday; in fact, the approach of the week-end checked any expansion of the public inquiry noticeable on the preceding day. Mining markets, therefore, could boast but little outside support, and professionals were more intent upon keeping even books than backing their fancies (except on the turf), even though the outlook as regards certain sections seemed to be distinctly brighter. The Kaffir department was worried by the continued absence of news as to the disposal of enemy holdings, and, in the circumstances, a set-back to £5 5s. per oz. in the price of gold was hardly calculated to stimulate activity. The Paris exchange, too, remained adverse, the quotation being about 56.40, and little support was received from that quarter, while the Cape showed no inclination to buy even its favourites. Consequently, movements on the day were again of an insignificant and irregular character, and features were conspicuous by their absence. Indeed, so small was the volume of trading, that only about half a dozen changes on balance were recorded, a state of affairs which has not been equalled for a considerable time past. "Johnnies" and Modderfontein were wanted, but Modder East were again being offered, and, buyers being scarce, the price further weakened.

OIL SHARES FEATURELESS.

BUSINESS ON AN EXTREMELY SMALL SCALE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The Oil Share market presented a very quiet appearance throughout the whole of yesterday. Taken as a whole, the tendency was steady, although transactions in the leaders and speculative favourites alike were of meagre proportions. Paris was not in the market all day, there being scarcely any margin showing between the prices ruling here and in that centre, while very little business came to hand from the provinces. It was, indeed, the most idle day experienced this week, and many dealers, finding so little to do, left the "House" at quite an early hour. For all the business done in the "Street" members might just as well have left at the official close, but with some the "Street" market has become a habit, so that, regardless of whether or not there is anything doing, the usual knot of dealers assemble. In the circumstances, the leaders moved within very narrow limits, and showed little alteration at the close of business, while the changes among the more speculative descriptions were of an entirely unimportant character. Mexican Eagles, which are always a guide to the rest of the market, met with only a comparatively small amount of attention, the price fluctuating between 5 13/16 and 5 15/16, and finishing at 5 13/16, at which a slight shrinkage was recorded. Royal Dutch were a steady market all day at 48½, and Shells changed hands in a small way around 5⅜. Burmahs were looking dull at one time at only 6⅝, but hardened later, and finally registered a gain. Transactions in Trinidad issues were small, but the tendency of the group was slightly harder, gains being registered by Centrals, Leaseholds, Apex, and United British. Russians again had a dull appearance, losses occurring in North Caucasians and Ural Caspians. The rest of the list was uninteresting. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES INACTIVE.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

There was no increased activity in the Rubber Share market, but the tone was said to be rather more cheerful. Anglo-Dutch advanced to 28s. 3d., while Rubber Trusts were a few pence up at 18s. 6½d. Linggis were unchanged at 30s. 7½d, and so was Vallambrosas at 13s. 6d. There was, however, really nothing calling for special attention.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOAN RATES EASIER.

Bank Rate (changed April 15th) .... 7 p.c.

As generally happens on Friday, the position in the short loan market was less strained after Thursday's stringency. A small amount which fell due was repaid to the Bank, and nothing fresh was borrowed, while in the open market most people could get fresh daily money at 6 p.c. Weekly loans are still 5½ p.c. Brokers have put discount rates up again, but it seems to be a case of not being able to get bills if they wanted them, and not wanting them if they could get them.

The price of gold fell 4d. to 105s. per oz. fine nominal. Bar silver rallied ⅛d. for spot to 32⅜d. per oz., and ⅛d. for forward delivery to 32⅛d. per oz.

Among foreign exchanges the feature of the day was a continuance of Thursday's improvement in Italian lire. The rate has been up at a very high level for a long time, and until now has shown very little response to the altered trade conditions generally. A movement like this once started is easily followed up, but how far it will go is, of course, difficult to say. The rate opened at 99⅛, and was 96⅛ as the lowest. Paris cheque was active. It fell below 56.00, but came up towards the close. New York was about a cent in our favour on balance. Elsewhere falls in Norwegian and Danish rates were the only movements worth mentioning. The Brazilian milreis rallied sharply.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

American advices make no attempt to disguise the poor results regarded as a whole obtained by the railroads last year in the United States. A firm of New York stockbrokers declare that it is impossible "to dodge the fact that the staggering burden from which the roads are suffering is represented by the enormous pay roll charge." "Increased wages," they declare, "have added 2,000 million dollars to the cost of railroad operation since 1917. The railroads were forced not only to take on 277,000 more men under Government control, but the institution of union labour, red tape, and fantastic rules imposed by Labour organisations have added heavily to operating costs, and have compelled the roads to pay enormous sums in the aggregate for work which was not done and which was not intended to be done. 'How,' ask these New York stockbrokers, 'can any legitimate business stand this waste?'"

Ind, Coope, and Co. (1912), Ltd., announce that a settlement has been arrived at determining the company's liability for excess profits duty to 30th September, 1919. The liability to September 30th, 1920, has yet to be ascertained. The directors consider it inexpedient at the present time to make any statement as to the nature of the settlement, which has been the result of prolonged negotiation, and the position will be referred to in the next report of the directors. A circular to this effect has been sent to the shareholders.

Acting on the authority given at the extraordinary general meetings of the proprietors held on 27th November and 12th December, 1919, the directors of the Bank of Australasia have decided to issue the balance of the authorised capital, £500,000, to the proprietors at the price of £60 per share.

R. E. JONES PREFERENCE SHARES.

The issue of 700,000 10 p.c. Cumulative Participating Pref. Shares in R. E. Jones, Ltd., will be made early next week. The proceeds of the issue are required in connection with the acquisition of the Piccadilly Hotel and general expansion of the business. The new shares, which will rank pari passu with the existing Preference Shares, whose rights are being altered accordingly, will be entitled to a fixed cumulative dividend of 10 per cent., and after payment to the 5/- Ordinary Shares of a non-cumulative dividend of 25 per cent., to one-half of the remaining profits distributed in any year. The Ordinary Shares received a dividend of 45 per cent. for the year 1918-19, and the same dividend is being recommended by the directors for the year 1919-1920.

RICHMOND LUNATIC ASYLUM.

Mrs. J. Wyse Power presided yesterday at a monthly meeting of the Joint Committee of the Richmond District Asylum.

The accounts passed for payment amounted to £15,457 16s. 5d., leaving a debit balance of £13,724 17s. 8d. on the ordinary account. This would be further reduced by the contributions from South Wicklow, which totalled £7,000.

The Finance Committee, dealing with a letter from the Asylum Workers' Union submitted at the last meeting of the Joint Committee, pointed out that the letter was written owing to the fact that, after adopting certain recommendations with regard to "good service" pay to attendants and nurses made by the Wages Sub-Committee, the Finance Committee subsequently deleted from the annual estimates the provisions which had been inserted by their authority. The matter was now in the stage of awaiting a conference of the different asylum authorities to fix a uniform standard.

Regarding the demand of the Asylum Workers' Union, that a supplemental estimate be struck to cover the amount deleted from the original estimate, the Finance Committee reported that it was now too late for that course to be adopted, as the rates had already been struck in Counties Dublin, Wicklow, and Louth, and the asylum demand as forwarded, had been incorporated in the draft estimates of the Corporation, which would come up for adoption in a few days. Since the adoption of the estimates, however, the great reductions which had taken place in the prices of flour, potatoes and other provisoins, and coal, had left the Committee in a much better position financially than was then anticipated, and they believed that there would be a substantial margin to allow of payment of any increased sums which might be determined upon at the conference.

As there appeared to be some difficulty in getting the County Council's General Secretary to re-summon the former conference, the Finance Committee recommended that the Joint Committee should, at its meeting, decide to convene a conference of Irish asylum authorities to decide as to "good service" payments to nurses and attendants, and the question of paying or withholding annual increments pending the obtaining of certificates of proficiency in mental nursing by the members of the staff affected. It was suggested that the date of the conference be provisionally fixed for May 5th, each Committee to nominate representatives.

The report was adopted.

MR. G. N. BARNES, M.P.

Mr. G. N. Barnes, M.P., who is travelling for the benefit of his health, arrived at Cape Town on Wednesday. He is staying at the Premier's official residence.

"FORTY YEARS ONWARDS."

THE ROMANCE OF R. E. JONES.

"Like my three brothers, I started my business career, by sweeping and polishing floors, scrubbing bakers' pans, and so on," said Mr. Leigh Jones, of Messrs. R. E. Jones, Ltd., when seen yesterday. "We have all been brought up in the business, which, no doubt, largely accounts for our business success."

He and his brothers, said Mr. Jones, were all sent to the Continent as they approached man's estate, not only to learn languages, but to study every detail of foreign hotel and restaurant methods, and on their return they were placed in responsible positions in the firm. Each of them now has charge of a department, and all the departments dovetail into each other, the result being complete understanding and harmonious working.

"The business has grown from a very modest beginning," said Mr. Jones, "and in circumstances which some may consider romantic. My father, who founded it, was a compositor on the Western Mail at Cardiff forty years ago. The supper-break and the difficulty of getting even a cup of tea anywhere near midnight suggested to him the profitable possibilities attaching to the provision of such facilities. Accordingly, he hired a room in the Rotunda building, where he opened a stall under the style and title of the 'Great Western Coffee Tavern.'

THE COMPOSITOR'S TEA-CUP.

"My father himself carried the water for the making of the tea and coffee, and personally superintended the service of his customers, who were, in fact, his fellow night-workers. The profits were so encouraging that it was not long before he launched out boldly, and now, although on account of ill-health he has had to forego active participation in the conduct of the business, he retains his interest and follows its progress very keenly.

"From these small beginnings our interests in South Wales have steadily grown, until to-day we have numerous important establishments in Cardiff, Swansea, Bristol, Exeter, and Porthcawl.

"Since the war we have extended our activities to London, and, having acquired several famous sites, we have established a series of restaurants and hotels on lines which not only are novel, but have already proved by their popularity and success that they supply what has been a crying need in the Metropolis. Our dépôts are not teetotal, but our object is to supply food rather than drink of an alcoholic nature.

"We are now acquiring the Piccadilly Hotel, and this will temporarily complete our policy of expansion. We shall devote our attention to the consolidation of our position for a time before launching out further. And that is the present stage of development of the business, which began with the retailing of midnight cups of tea and coffee to thirsty printers in Cardiff."

COMPANY MEETINGS.

DUBLIN AND KINGSTOWN RAILWAY COMPANY.

Mr. Joseph Tatlow (in the absence of the Chairman, Right Hon. L. A. Waldron) presided yesterday at the half-yearly meeting of the proprietors of the Dublin and Kingstown Railway, the other directors in attendance being—Messrs. R. F. S. Colvill, Rd. P. Pim, and Wm. Robertson. The report, which was passed on the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Robertson, stated the balance available for dividend—including a surplus of £1,184 0s. 7d. carried from the previous account—was £10,751 18s. 10d. The Board declared a dividend on the capital stock of the company at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, less income tax, which amounted to £9,000, leaving £957 18s. 10d. to be brought forward. Messrs. R. F. S. Colvill and Wilfred Fitzgerald, retiring directors, were re-elected.

M'BIRNEY AND CO., LTD.

DECLINE IN NET PROFITS.

The annual meeting of Messrs. McBirney and Co., Ltd., was held at the company's offices, 17 Aston's quay, Dublin, yesterday. Mr. Alexander E. Hull, Chairman, presided, and the other directors present were—Messrs. Thomas Aston and James Hoctor.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report and statement of accounts, said that last year he had the privilege of moving the adoption of a report and statement of accounts which revealed a record year of prosperity in the history of the company. They were then on the high tide of successful trading, and it fortunately remained good until the late autumn of last year. Then, almost imperceptibly at first, the demand fell slowly off, and he was sorry to say that recently it had been receding fast. Sooner or later no doubt the turn was bound to come. They had some serious economic problems to solve first. A large measure of peace was absolutely necessary in order to restore the confidence and security that were essential to any successful enterprise. The most notable feature in the year's balance sheet was the decline in their net profits as compared with those shown last year. In consequence of the trade slump it was imperative that the stock should be valued at such a figure that, notwithstanding the fall in prices, they would be in a position to meet their competitors by giving the public equal, if not better, value for their money than they offered. Thus, the volume of trade which was the foundation on which the business rested would be maintained. They had, therefore, felt obliged to make reductions on an extensive scale, such as would not have arisen under normal conditions. If these sacrifices had been heavy they trusted they would bring a reward by increasing the reputation they already held for giving their customers a good article at a moderate price. On the other hand, if they had been too optimistic, and the decline in the prosperity of the country to the extent that pessimists prophesied continued, well, they had done their best, and the shareholders must expect to suffer in the future. However, that was not his view, and while he did not think it probable they should do so well as they had done during the past few years, there was no reason why they should not with prudence and care, under more stable conditions, continue to carry on a sound business of a moderate character. Their stock appeared at £65,228, a higher figure than that last year, but the directors were quite satisfied that the goods held were fully worth this amount. The value of drapery stuff all round was much more than double what it was before the war. In 1914 the value of their stock was £36,800, so that their present stock in quantity was considerably less than that held then, and, as he had said on a previous occasion, a small stock with a quick turnover was the desideratum of good business. The amount of sundry trade debtors, £59,266, was somewhat lower than last year, and while they were satisfied with the soundness of this asset, the debts under present circumstances might become difficult to collect. As a precautionary measure they proposed to set aside £1,000 to reserve. The premises, leaseholds, fixtures, plant, and goodwill account stood at the same sum, £38,960, as it did last year. During the time the company had been on Aston's quay they had practically rebuilt the premises, and furnished and refurnished the shop. This item practically represented the company's outlay on the structure. It was money taken from profit and without this expenditure the place would probably be in a similar state as the houses on the lower quay were. Their liabilities on the other side of the account consisted of trade creditors, reserves of Government taxes, and cash on deposit, £63,687, an increase on last year's amount, due to larger purchases and expenses; in view of which a sum of £2,000 had been set aside to the reserve fund, which would then stand at the substantial figure of £15,000. They had recently spent a considerable sum in providing roller blinds, similar to those adopted by other houses.

Mr. James Hoctor seconded the motion, which was passed.

On the motion of Mr. William Wallace, seconded by Colonel Swaine, a dividend at the rate of 7 per cent. on the ordinary shares was declared, together with a bonus of 3s. per share.

Mr. Thomas Aston was re-elected a director of the company, and Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co., were re-appointed auditors.

A vote of thanks was passed to the directors and staff.

COOMBE HOSPITAL LINEN GUILD.

The first annual meeting of the Linen Guild in connection with the Coombe Hospital, Dublin, was held at the hospital, yesterday afternoon. Dr. Robert M'Laverty, Master of the Institution, presided, and there was a large attendance.

The Committee, in their report, which was read by Mrs. M. Murphy (Hon. Secretary) thanked the supporters and workers who had helped to make the Guild the great success that it had been, and it was hoped that they would continue to extend their efforts to get new members. The number of articles made and supplied to the hospital was 412.

Sir John Moore moved the adoption of the report, and said that it characterised the work of the Guild as a splendid example of philanthropy. He paid a tribute to the members of the Guild, and mentioned that during the year almost 600 babies had been born in the institution and almost double that number in the district. He trusted that the Guild would flourish for many years, and not only flourish, but extend its benevolence.

Dr. J. J. O'Kelly seconded the motion, and described the condition under which the poorer classes lived in the district. He pointed out how necessary it was in the circumstances that the work of the Guild should be supported and extended.

The resolution was passed, as also one declaring that the Guild was worthy of support.

The Chairman returned thanks to Mrs. Murphy, Hon. Secretary, and the other ladies, for their support.

HOCKEY.

CO. DUBLIN (4) v. OXFORD OCCASIONALS (1).

An exceptionally fine game brought the Occasionals' tour to an end yesterday, when, in the College Park, Co. Dublin won deservedly by four goals to one. On the run of the play Dublin were really three goals the better team. The play was marked by much cleverness on both sides, and the stick-work reached a very high standard. The pitch was rather soft in places, but in fair order. After an even opening, C. Sully forced Blackburn to concede a corner to save, off which C. O'Reilly scored with a great drive. Later Medcalf gave to Varian to score a second goal. Macdonald replied with a goal for the visitors. Oxford tried hard to equalise before the interval, but Dillon saved finely from Donnison. On resuming, Medcalf scored from a melee in front of goal. Before the finish a fine movement, initiated by Rowlands, led to Medcalf and Semmence getting well away, for the latter to pass to Varian, who scored easily. Dillon saved a couple of times for Dublin before the finish. Blackburn, Bridge, Scott, and Donnison were the outstandingplayers on the Oxford side. Dillon, Blair White, Murphy, and Medcalf played finely in the Dublin team. Teams:—

Oxford Occasionals—Blackburn; Adams, Bridge (capt.); De Bruyn, Scott, Tuckwell; Freston, Macdonald, Donnison, Blackley, Barford.

Co. Dublin—Dillon; Blair White, Phillips; Ronan, Murphy, Rowlands (capt.); O'Reilly, C. Sully, Varian, Robert Semmence, Medcalf.

Umpires—Messrs. James S. M'Mahon and H. W. Strong.

IRISH SENIOR CUP—SEMI-FINAL.
QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY, BELFAST (2) v. LIMERICK P.Y.M.A. (0).

Although with four of their usual side absent, Queen's managed to secure a good victory at Rathmines yesterday in the Senior Cup semi-final. The ground seemed much too fast for both sides at the start, and it was some time before they got the pace of the pitch properly. The game was very evenly contested, the respective defences carrying off the honours. Midway through the first half Montgomery scored with a fine high oblique shot, and this proved the only score till a minute from time, when Carson let Strahan well away, for M'Fadden to score from his centre. Owing to Cliftonville scratching, Queen's University play Royal Hibernians to-day in the final, and a fine game should be seen. Teams:—

Queen's University, Belfast—B. Freeman; A. Wilson, E. Bolton; A. C. Sinclair, S. R. Malcolmson, W. Rentoul; T. Strahan, J. C. Carson, G. M'Fadden, W. Forsyth, H. A. Montgomery.

Limerick P.Y.M.A.—E. Hollywood; A. Brislane, W. Stockil; R. Mulligan, M. Gubbins, A. Fitt; W. Miller, G. Cross, J. Dunn, F. Brislane, C. Brislane.

Umpires—Messrs. J. E. Mills and J. S. Jackson.

FOOTBALL.

RUGBY.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

The match between Scotland and England at Inverleith, Edinburgh, to-day, will decide the championship as far as the home countries are concerned. England is in the happy position that even a defeat to-day cannot deprive her of a tie for the championship. Previous form points to an easy win for England, whose representatives would thus win both the championship of the home countries and the Calcutta Cup. An eleventh hour change has taken place on the side, E. Myers (Bradford), the centre three-quarter, crying off, and his place will be taken by Q. E. A. King, of the Army, who is a new cap.

Two matches in the Leinster Senior Cup will provide plenty of entertainment for Lansdowne road patrons, where, early in the day, will also be decided the Junior Cup semi-final between Carlow and Wexford. The first match in the Senior Cup between Palmerston and 2nd Welch Regiment starts at 2.30, and at 4 o'clock Bective Rangers and Dublin University commence their game.

PRESENTATION COLLEGE (6) v. ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE (3).

The semi-finals were played yesterday at Lansdowne road, Presentation defeating Andrew's in the first by a penalty goal and a try to a try. Teams—

Presentation College—H. Cullen; D. Thompson, P. Cuddy, H. Rose, C. Higginbotham; J. Higginbotham, A. Wallace; E. Arigho, L. Gahnon, K. Kearns, T. Barry, P. O'Loughlin, J. Shanahan, J. Brophy, A. Cullen.

St. Andrew's College—E. Willis; J. Bosworth, W. Rossiter, J. Keegan, A. Cunningham; T. Wallace, R. Crozier; R. Langrishe, A. Flannery, A. O'Donnell, K. Middleton, M. Mofsovitz, A. Pollitt, W. Lewis, A. Coulson.

On the run of the play Andrew's were unlucky to be beaten, as they held their own in the first half, and had a good bit the better of the concluding period. Both sides played good football, and Presentation showed that they will be a team to be reckoned with in the competition for the future. Early in the first half Rose dropped a splendid penalty goal for Presentation, and soon after Keegan and Bosworth were nearly in for Andrew's. A nasty shower made the ball very difficult to handle in the concluding period, and Andrew's were pressing when Rose broke away in a fine dribble down the ground, and, picking up, raced over for a fine try. After this Andrew's attacked to the finish, and after Bosworth had spoiled a grand chance by knocking on Langrishe scored an unconverted try.

For the winners, Rose, C. Higginbotham, A. Wallace, and E. Arigho (backs), and Gannon, Kearns, O'Loughlin, and Barry (forwards) played well. The pick of the Andrew's boys were Crozier, T. Wallace, Keegan, and Rossiter (backs), and Langrishe, O'Donnell, Flannery, and Middleton (forwards). Result:—

Presentation—1 penalty goal 1 try (6 points).
St. Andrew's College—1 try (3 points).

CASTLEKNOCK COLLEGE (34) v. MOUNTJOY SCHOOL (0).

Castleknock proved much too good for Mountjoy School, and defeated them by 2 goals and 8 tries to nil. Mountjoy were outplayed forward and behind the scrimmage, and Castleknock had matters all their own way throughout. In the first half Lenane, Carroll, Corrigan, and Smith (2) scored tries for Castleknock, one of which was converted by McGuinness. Castleknock led at the interval by 17 points to nil. The second half proved a repetition of the first, Smith (3), O'Neill, and Grant scoring further tries for the winners, and McGuinness converting one of them. For the winners, Smith, Carroll, Grant and Lenane (backs), and O'Donnell, Maher, Biernan, and Quirke (forwards) did well; and Mountjoy were best served by Ellis and Lambert (backs), and Carey, Hendy, Auchmuty, and McHugh (forwards). Result:—

Castleknock College—2 goals 8 tries (34 points).
Mountjoy School—Nil.

DUBLIN DOG SHOW.

The sixteenth St. Patrick's Day Dog Show was held on Thursday in Sewell's Repository, Lower Mount street, a venue in every respect ideal for the purpose, affording, as it does, splendid accommodation for benching and judging, and perfect light. Splendid entries were received, those for Irish Terriers being a record for a number of years. The high standard of the exhibits associated with previous shows was well maintained. Airedales, in particular, were a very good lot, and Red Setters made an excellent show, while the big class of Bulldogs included many fine specimens of the breed. In all the classes the competition was unusually keen, a remark that applies particularly to the Irish Terriers. In this breed the honours were carried off by Irish Light, but it was a very close thing between the winner in Class 37 and Bloomfield Ambassador, which was awarded second prize, the judge taking an unusually long time to make up his mind. Mr. G. Bennett's Red Setter, Gruagach, secured the prize for the best dog in the show, Mr. J. McIlhagga, of Belfast, being given the reserve. Irish Blues made an interesting exhibit, but we were not impressed by the winner in the Open Class, Botanic Blue Tip. Indeed, we much preferred any of the other Blues benched, which, in every respect, were more typical of the breed. Mr. J. J. Holgate was the all-round judge, Mr. S. Montgomery judged the Irish Terriers, and Mr. J. W. Heaslip adjudicated on Red Setters and Irish Blue Terriers. Details:—

SPORTING NEWS.

RACECOURSE GLEANINGS.

THE GRAND NATIONAL.

SHAUN SPADAH'S VICTORY.

AN EXTRAORDINARY RACE.

THIRTY-FOUR OF THE THIRTY-FIVE RUNNERS FALL.

(SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED.)

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY.

There was an unhappy prelude to Grand National Day—Mr. P. Hartigan, the well-known Ogbourne trainer, falling from the bedroom window at his hotel and succumbing to a fractured skull. He had retired with his wife, a daughter of the late Mr. George Edwardes, and, complaining of the heat, proceeded to open the French window, which somehow gave way, and he was precipitated to the courtyard below, with fatal results. During the war the deceased gained fame for his gallantry as a lieutenant in the 19th Hussars, when he unfortunately lost an eye. One of the most genial of Irishmen, the deceased will be greatly missed by a wide circle.

Never has such a gathering of Royalty attended a race meeting. In addition to the King and Queen, the Prince of Wales, Princess Mary, and Prince Henry motored from Knowsley. The Prince, along with Lord Stanley, had witnessed the morning work of the National horses, and was thoroughly interested in what he saw. He had a long talk with Ernest Piggott on his previous National mounts, and then accepted Payne's invitation to inspect Turkey Buzzard in his box.

Prior to the principal event a great compliment was paid to Mr. Meyrick Good, who reads the races for the Press. Lord Derby came into the Press room and explained that His Majesty would much prefer hearing the reading of the race than relying on what he actually saw himself. Mr. Good consequently read the race from Lord Derby's stand, with the King standing by. He was presented to His Majesty, and is the second racing Pressman to be so honoured, the late Mr. Charles Greenwood, who previously read the races, being similarly introduced to the late King Edward many years ago at Epsom.

It was a remarkable Grand National. When the going is treacherous one looks for mishaps, but in perfect going it was simply amazing that but one of the thirty-five runners should cover the distance without trouble. Four actually finished, but the other three only did so at a second attempt.

It was two fences from the finish that The Bore came down, and it was a plucky effort on the part of Mr. Brown to get up again and finish second, for he had broken his collar bone, which mishap also occurred to Captain Doyle and Mr. Blair. The Bore was running alongside Shaun Spadah when he came down, but was already a beaten horse.

With the exception of the blunder at the water, when Rees effected a splendid recovery, Shaun Spadah, according to his rider, never made a mistake. He had before got round at Aintree, behind Poethlyn, when his saddle slipped. He has only been in Poole's stable this season, and has unquestionably made a tremendous improvement. The stable almost secured the spring double, for the Lincoln second, Senhora, is stable companion of Shaun Spadah.

There was a most enthusiastic scene when horse and jockey returned to the paddock. Ringing cheers continued for many minutes, and then Fred. Rees had to be presented to, and complimented by, the King and Queen, who stood at the entrance to Lord Derby's stand to receive the conquering horseman.

Shaun Spadah was bred in County Westmeath by Mr. P. McKenna, who sold him to Mr. R. G. Cleary, for whom the horse won a couple of small races, subsequently to which he was purchased by Mr. Frank Barbour, whose colours he carried successfully on several occasions in Ireland. After winning a race at Baldoyle in October, 1917, Shaun Spadah was sold to his present owner, Mr. McAlpine, for whom he had won many races prior to his fine achievement of to-day.

Betting—9 to 1 agst. THE BORE, 10 to 1 Eamon Beag, 100 to 9 each SHAUN SPADAH, Turkey Buzzard, and Garryvoe, 100 to 8 Old Tay Bridge, 100 to 7 Daydawn, 30 to 1 Blazers, 33 to 1 each ALL WHITE, Rather Dark, and White Surrey, 50 to 1 each Halston, Forewarned, Any Time, and Glencorrig, 66 to 1 each General Saxham, Hackam, and Prince Clifton, 100 to 1 any other.

Place Betting—One-fourth winning quotations.

After a false start Eamon Beag fell at the first open ditch and Hackam at the fence before Becher's. Turkey Buzzard carried on from Blazers and All White. Glencorrig soon afterwards came a cropper, and Garryvoe refused at the water. Turkey Buzzard then led from All White, who pecked. The Bore and Forewarned fell, but were remounted. Loch Allen came to grief at the water in the second round. Shortly after only five were left standing up at the fence before Becher's. Forewarned and All White fell, leaving Shaun Spadah, Turkey Buzzard, and The Bore in the running. Then Turkey Buzzard fell at the penultimate obstacle. The Bore also came down, but was quickly remounted. Meanwhile Shaun Spadah came home an easy winner from The Bore, winning by more than a distance. The remounted All White and Turkey Buzzard finished third and fourth respectively. Only the winner completed the course without either falling or refusing.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY NIGHT.

Those who anticipated witnessing a Grand National which would prove historical should be satisfied with the results. For the first time in its history we saw every runner, excepting the victor, come to grief. The Bore was spun out when he jumped into the last obstacle, which is, perhaps, the easiest fence in the whole line, and it was unfortunate that Mr. Brown should have at that point fractured a collar bone and also broken a stirrup leather. For the concluding day my full selections are:

Liverpool Handicap Hurdle—Knight of Manister.
Cup Course Handicap—Kilvola.
Champion Steeplechase—Keep Cool.
Earl of Sefton's Plate—Fiddle-de-Dee.
Sefton Park Stakes—Nellisky.
Maghull Plate—Steamer.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

J. Dines has entered into an agreement to ride for Mr. J. T. Rogers.

The Stewards of the Turf Club have given permission to Major G. I. Carolin and Messrs. S. Haughton and L. Keating to ride under Rule 96 (l).

In the Grand National Steeplechase yesterday Mr. H. A. Brown, rider of The Bore, broke a collar bone when his horse fell at the last fence, and Captain Doyle, it is feared, broke a shoulder blade. Rather Dark broke down, and Turkey Buzzard fell three times, but was remounted and finished fourth.

OFFICIAL SCRATCHINGS.

Liverpool engagements—Merry Lad. All engagements—Polidora, Fast, Worse and Worse, Bird's Eye, Great Defeat. All engagements in Mr. Baslard's name—Be Cool. Durham County Produce Plate, Stockton, and Imperial Plate, Kempton—Haycroft, Mynora colt, Swanee. Penguin Selling Hurdle, Cardiff—Lady Risca. Earlswood Hurdle, Shirley—Earl Marshall. Liverpool Scratchings.—Cup Course Selling—Auramine, Farm Girl. Maghull Plate—Verciorova, Adela. Liverpool Hurdle—Trespasser. Sefton Park Stakes—Lady A colt, The Sleeper, Game Van.

BILLIARDS.

SMITH v. INMAN.

AN EXCITING TUSSLE.

This match of 16,000 up, level, took a remarkable turn yesterday afternoon, when the champion, by aggregating 1,324, regained the lead. Smith's play was really brilliant, and after increasing his suspended break to 408, he also recorded 323, 90, 193, and 251. Inman had few chances, but augmented his total with useful items of 225 and 76. Interval scores:—Smith, 12,662; Inman, 12,567.

The evening session saw the lead change hands continually, and eventually the closure was applied with the score pegs level, Inman being in play. The chief breaks were—Inman, 166, 51, 214, and 54 (unfinished); Smith, 119 and 263. With both players requiring almost 3,000 for game an extra session will be played this morning. Closing scores: Inman, 13,076; Smith, 13,076.

SMITH v. INMAN.

Smith completely outplayed Inman in the game of 16,000 up, level, at Manchester yesterday afternoon, scoring 1,324 to 381. Raising an unfinished 149 to 408, he afterwards put on 323, 198, and 267. Inman made one fine break of 225. Interval scores:—Smith, 12,662; Inman (in play), 12,567.

REECE v. NEWMAN.

Little interest remained in this match for the championship when play was resumed at Leicester square, London, yesterday, Newman being 3,321 points in front. He played badly during the afternoon, but still increased his lead by 426. His only breaks were 107, 116, and 89, while Reece did little of note. Interval scores:—Newman, 14,000; Reece, 10,253.

LAWN TENNIS.

LONDON v. PARIS.

The veteran members of the home team engaging the young Frenchmen in the annual inter-city match between London and Paris on the Dulwich hard courts again fared so disastrously yesterday that the contest is all but over. The visitors have already won fourteen matches to six, and there are seven matches to be decided to-day.

RESOLUTION OF THE TURF CLUB.

A special meeting of the Turf Club was held at the Registry Office, Dublin, on Wednesday, March 16th. Present:—

Steward—Right Hon. Sir William Goulding, Bt., P.C. (presiding).

Members—Right Hon. the Earl of Kenmare, Right Hon. Sir Thomas Stafford, Bt., P.C.; General Sir Bryan Mahon, General Sir C. Kavanagh, Sir Walter Nugent, Bt.; Col. Blacker, D.S.O.; Col. St. Leger Moore, C.B.; Capt. Wyndham Quin, Messrs. S. Grehan, T. K. Laidlaw, J. J. Maher, T. L. Plunkett, J. Porter Porter, R. D. Jameson, and T. B. Donnelly.

Letters from Mr. I. J. Blake, Major McCalmont and Major J. Murray, and telegrams from the Earl of Enniskillen, Lord Wavertree, Sir E. C. Cochrane, Major Durham Matthews, Mr. Peter FitzGerald, and Mr. W. H. West, regretting their unavoidable absence, expressing their deepest sympathy and desiring to associate themselves with the last tribute paid to the memory of the late Mr. La Touche, were read by Sir William Goulding.

Sir William Goulding, addressing those present, said—

My Lord and Gentlemen,—We are met here to-day to lament the very sad and great loss we have sustained by the death of our Senior Steward, Mr. Percy La Touche, who was a man loved by us all. His calling away is indeed a great blow to the Irish Turf, as he has been for so many years its guiding star and legislator.

We, and indeed the whole country, have to deplore the loss of a great Irishman, a perfect sportsman, a true friend, and a man whose removal has made the world poorer.

I will now propose the following resolution:—

"We, the Stewards and Members of the Turf Club, desire to record our deep sorrow for the irreparable loss we have sustained through the death of our friend and colleague, the late Mr. Percy La Touche.

"His extensive knowledge of racing in all its phases, acquired by years of close connection with it, was of inestimable value to the Stewards and Members of the Turf Club. His wise counsel and his untiring energy have at all times been at the service of the Club, and were most highly valued and appreciated by all the members.

"During his membership of the Club, extending over a period of thirty years (eleven of which he was a Steward), his invariable courtesy, charming personality, strict integrity of purpose, and clear perception, won for him the respect and admiration, not only of us, the Members of the Turf Club, but also of the whole racing community, who, we are sure, mourn with us to-day his loss."

Mr. Porter Porter, in seconding the above resolution, said that it was indeed a sorrowful duty for him to perform. He had known Mr. La Touche for over forty years, and he endorsed every word expressed by Sir William Goulding.

Col. St. Leger Moore mentioned that he had been associated with Mr. La Touche for sixty years; he was the staunchest and most loyal friend he ever had, and he, too, wished to add his tribute to what had been expressed by Sir William Goulding, in which he heartily acquiesced.

Mr. T. L. Plunkett also desired to associate himself with the resolution passed. He foresaw the great loss Mr. La Touche would be to the Irish Turf.

The meeting then adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Senior Steward.

I.N.H.S. COMMITTEE.

The Steward and Members of the I.N.H.S. Committee who were present subsequently held a meeting, and expressed their deep regret and sorrow at the death of their Senior Steward, Mr. Percy La Touche, and wished to associate themselves with the resolution passed by the Stewards and Members of the Turf Club.

HAMS—American dull, as prices considered too high; York and Cumberland style 2/2 to 2/9; Canadian long cut green 180/-, ditto short cut green 175/-, American long cut green 180/-, ditto short cut green 175/-. Shoulders, square 135/-, New York 140/-, picnics 100/-. LARD slow and unaltered; Irish 104/- to 108/-.

satisfied to clear their remaining cold storage stocks of creams at 2/10, and in other cases 2/11 per lb. New makes of creams, and also factory butter, rate anywhere from 2/4½ up to 2/11 and 3/- per lb. Cold storage lots, say, from 2/6 to 2/10 per lb. Farmers' butter is in very narrow supply, and firkins average from 1/7 to 2/- per lb. Secondary quality factories are somewhat reduced in bulk, but the off-take remains dull inside the range of prices quoted. Eggs, in the interim since Tuesday, have maintained the firmer prices then noted, and owing to yesterday's holiday there is a momentary scarcity of arrivals, which lends a certain corresponding firmness to values. The undertone, all the same, is minus of confidence, and it may be that on larger supplies materialising, some drop in prices will ensue, although, as reflected from the other side of the water, values indicate no material weakness. Best case hen eggs rate from 18/-, 19/- and 20/- per 120; selected fresh qualities up to 21/6; seconds and smalls around 15/6 to 16/6 per 120. Duck eggs are still on the scarce side,

County Dublin old meadow, 6/6 to 7/- and 7/6; ditto, country, 5/6 to 6/- and 6/6; other sorts, 3/6 to 5/- per cwt.; wheaten straw, 4/- to 4/6 per cwt.; oaten, 3/9 to 4/6, and a few specially good fresh threshed feed loads, 4/9 per cwt.

TRADE REPORT.—MANCHESTER, Friday.—Signs of increasing confidence in cloth section are very welcome, but their influence may be easily over-estimated. Dhooties move in fair lines for Calcutta at the low rates. More inquiries are mentioned for China and Near Eastern outlets. There are still too many idle sellers about. A healthier tone in certain counts of American yarns. Egyptians firmer, but slow.

LAW REPORTS.

DUBLIN WILL CASE.

In the Chancery Division, Dublin, yesterday, interesting questions, arising on the will of Mr. Richard Anderson, commission agent, late of 1 Waterloo place, Dublin, deceased, came before Mr. Justice Powell for decision, on the memorandum by the plaintiffs, Messrs. Joseph Acton and William J. McCormack, the personal representatives of the deceased. The defendant is the Rev. David Anderson, LL.D. The action has been brought for the administration of the estate of the deceased. The memorandum set out that Mr. Richard Anderson died in May, 1919, having previously made his will, dated 20th March, 1919, with three codicils. The deceased was the registered holder of the following stocks and shares, amongst others:—137 Ordinary shares of £1 in Fine Cotton Spinners' and Doublers' Association, Ltd.; 10 Ordinary shares of £1 in J. and P. Coats, Ltd., and 22 Ordinary shares of £1 in the Burmah Oil Company, Ltd. By his will the deceased bequeathed the shares in Fine Cotton Spinners' and Doublers' Association, Ltd., and J. and P. Coats, Ltd., to the defendant, and bequeathed the shares in the Burmah Oil Company, Ltd., to Miss Josephine Pope. Since the date of the deceased's death, bonus shares, in respect of the original Ordinary shares, had been allotted as follows:—27 Preferred-Ordinary shares of £1 each in the Fine Cotton Spinners' and Doublers' Association; 15 Ordinary shares of £1 each in J. and P. Coats, in respect of five of which the defendant had advanced the amount of the required subscription on allotment out of his own moneys, and 16 new Ordinary shares of £1 each in the Burmah Oil Company. All these bonus shares appear to have been created, pursuant to resolutions of the respective companies, by the capitalisation of the undistributed profits of the companies standing to reserve or other suspense account, and by the distribution of the bonus shares by allotment amongst existing holders of the original Ordinary shares in certain proportions to their holding of original shares. There is a deficiency in the general personal estate of the deceased not specifically bequeathed, and the general pecuniary legacies given by the will are subject to substantial abatement proportionately. The questions for the decision of Mr. Justice Powell were whether the bonus shares, or any of them, pass, under the will, along with the original Ordinary shares, to the specific legatees of the original shares; or, whether the bonus shares, so far as they represent undistributed profits of the companies in which the deceased was entitled to share at the date of his death, form part of the general personal estate of the deceased, and are applicable in payment in full of the general pecuniary legacies given by the will. Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald (instructed by Mr. B. J. McCormack) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mrs. Conner, K.C., and Mr H. Conner (instructed by Mr. W. G. Armstrong), for the defendant. Mr. Justice Powell held that the bonus shares passed, under the will, along with the original Ordinary shares, to the specific legatees of the Ordinary shares. He allowed the parties their costs.

TRESPASS ON CO. KILKENNY LANDS.—In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the case of John Walsh v. Richard Dunphy, Michael Dunphy, and Mary Dunphy, all of Curraghkehoe, Rathmoyle, Co. Kilkenny, Mr. Bacon (instructed by Mr. John Lanigan), on behalf of the plaintiff, applied for judgment in default of appearance and defence. The statement of claim set out that the plaintiff is a judicial tenant, for a second statutory term, subject to a rent of £70, of a holding containing 100 acres 2 roods and 32 perches, formerly held by John Walsh, senior, his father, and assigned by his father to the plaintiff in the year 1892. The defendants occupy and reside upon another farm adjoining plaintiff's farm, and containing about 20 acres. Prior to the year 1874 the defendants' farm, which was then in the occupation of Michael Dunphy, father of the defendants, contained about 40 acres. About March, 1874, Michael Dunphy being threatened with eviction, an arrangement was made between the landlord, John H. Jones, and Michael Dunphy and John Walsh, senior, whereby, in consideration of a sum of £250 provided by Mr. Walsh, for the purpose of enabling Mr. Dunphy to discharge, inter alia, his arrears of rent, Mr. Dunphy's farm was divided, and a portion of it, containing about 20 acres, was transferred by Mr. Dunphy with the consent of the landlord, to Mr. Walsh, and was consolidated with a farm containing about 47 acres. In July, 1920, the defendants, Richard and Michael Dunphy, came to the plaintiff and demanded that he should give up to them the portion of his holding which had formerly been in the occupation of the defendants' father. The plaintiff refused to comply with the demand. In December last the two defendants referred to drove 19 head of plaintiff's cattle off the portion of his holding, and brought them to the plaintiff's house, and on the same date a gate leading into the plaintiff's land from the public road was removed, and one of the piers was broken down by the defendants. On the 17th December, 1920, the three defendants drove the plaintiff's cattle off the portion of the holding, and Richard Dunphy warned the plaintiff, with threats, against using the lands for his cattle. The plaintiff claimed an order restraining the defendants, their servants and agents, from entering and trespassing upon his farm, from removing or injuring the gates, from driving his cattle off the lands, and from interfering with the plaintiff in his occupation of them. Counsel said that some suggestion had been made that they should submit the case for arbitration in a local court, but the plaintiff refused. Mr. Justice Powell gave judgment for the plaintiff in the terms of the statement of claim.

The property, which is a most desirable one is situated in a beautiful district, midway between Woodenbridge and Aughrim, on the D. and S.E. Railway. The Residence is a compact, two-storeyed, non-basement one, commodious, substantially built, well appointed, and in good order. There is an excellent water supply by gravitation through a filtered bed. The out-offices are extensive, substantially built, well maintained, and are suitable to the size of the holding. The quality of the lands varies, and is suitable for tillage and grazing. The fields are of good size, well sheltered and watered. There is a good deal of valuable timber on the property. The cattle fed on this estate during the past 25 years comprise shorthorns and, principally, Polled Angus breeds. At present there is a fine herd of pure bred Polled Angus on the place. We have inspected this property, and will give all particulars to prospective purchasers. We can state that it affords a desirable opportunity for any person to acquire a valuable freehold estate, and, should any person be desirous of purchasing, by Private Treaty, the whole or part, we shall be glad to negotiate with them.
